Battle Shaping In Legislature

Revolves Around Rockefeller's Plan For Replacing Condon-Wadlin Law

By WILLIAM S. STEVENS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Lines were drawn today for a new battle in the Legislature, this time over Gov. Rockefeller's proposals aimed at dealing with strikes by public employees.

Vote Clay As Greene Delegate

Greene County Republican committeemen, meeting Thursday night to endorse candidates for state and county office, faced one real contest when four names were presented for delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

On the fourth ballot Cossackie Attorney Charles Clay defeated Sen. Lloyd A. Newcombe by four votes, Clay receiving 80 votes and Newcombe 76. Sen. Newcombe, Catskill business man, had previously announced that he was withdrawing as a candidate for State Senate and would seek the designation as Constitutional Convention delegate.

Aldrich Endorsed
All incumbents for county office were designated to succeed themselves. Alexander Aldrich was endorsed by the Greene County delegation for Member of Congress; Douglas Hudson of Rensselaer County for State Senator; Assemblyman Clarence Lane of Windham for assembly. When the designation for delegate to the State Constitutional Convention was called for the names of Sen. Newcombe of Catskill, Clay of Cossackie, John Fromer of Tannersville and Oreste Vincent, Catskill village attorney, were presented.

On the first ballot Sen. Newcombe received 49 votes, Clay 47, Vincent 40 and Fromer 18, a total of 154 votes. One vote was void and there was one abstaining.

Tie On Second Ballot
On the second ballot all four candidates remained in the race and there was a tie between Newcombe and Clay, each receiving 50 votes. Vincent received 41 and Fromer 15.

Charges County Blanketed With Dem Snow Costs

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County charged today that the Democrat majority in the New York State Assembly has rammed through a bill which would add many thousands of dollars in additional costs to the residents of Ulster County, as well as to every area in the New York City Watershed area.

Wilson said the Assembly, by a vote of 85-59 has passed a bill which was submitted by the Democrat-controlled Committee on Rules that would shift the cost of all snow plowing and highway sanding on the roads around the New York City Reservoirs directly upon the backs of the local area involved. The Assemblyman pointed out that the Water Supply Act of 1905 specifically points out New York City was to be responsible for maintaining all the highway and bridges in its Upstate Watershed properties.

Several years ago, Assemblyman Edwin Mason of Delaware County offered a bill which specifically included snow removal and sanding as part of the New York City responsibility in maintaining these highways. The Mason bill was approved by the Legislature and has been law ever since, but since that time there have been Democrat efforts to do away with this provision of the law and shift its cost directly to the local areas.

Assemblyman Wilson said if the present Democrat-sponsored bill should receive final approval this year it would mean the cost of all snow plowing, highway sanding, and the construction of snow fences on all of the roads around the New York City Reservoirs in Ulster County would have to be borne by the county and the various towns in the watershed area.

public employees who strike against the government. Democrats are known to be strongly against sections in the Rockefeller measure that would mandate punishment against unions whose members went on strike.

Doubts Passage
Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia has said that, if the governor released the bills with that section intact, the measure would not pass the Democratic-controlled house.

But Republicans, who rule the Senate, are strongly in favor of the provision to penalize the unions in labor disputes in government units.

The first actual contact in the battle is expected Monday, when the Legislature returns to work after a four-day recess.

Although there is general agreement that Condon-Wadlin should be replaced, organized labor has mounted a drive against Rockefeller's proposal because of the union - penalty clause.

Democrats side with labor in the dispute and reportedly have tried to convince the GOP governor to soften that section.

Rockefeller, however, apparently has decided to retain the penalty provision in keeping with a report submitted last month by a committee he appointed to study the issue.

Started After Transit
The committee went into action in the wake of a strike last January that tied up New York City's subway and bus lines for 12 days.

Rockefeller called the proposed legislation "new and creative" and said it would protect the public interest and, at the same time, allow public employees the right to organize and negotiate.

Condon - Wadlin, the present no-strike law, has seldom been used because of its harsh penalties. It requires immediate dismissal of striking employees and prevents pay raises for them for three years if they are re-hired.

Rockefeller's bill sets up collective bargaining and mediation procedures. A Democratic plan contains similar sections. Labor is strongly in favor of the bargaining plan.

The governor's bill would require unions to give a no-strike pledge as a condition to recognition.

If a strike was called, union

Kerhonkson Will Get $117,720 to Improve Water

WASHINGTON — Congressmen Joseph Y. Resnick today announced plans to finance a $117,720 improvement of the Kerhonkson community water system in Ulster County, through a loan and grant from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration.

The agency has given preliminary approval of a $66,540 loan and $51,180 grant to the Kerhonkson Water District for the water system improvements. The Congressman informed District President George M. Barthel of 5 Park Street, Ellenville.

Second of Kind in N. Y.
The action, only the second of its kind in New York State, assures the Kerhonkson District of necessary funds when it is ready to carry out construction under plans approved by the Farmers Home Administration.

Congressman Resnick said the project marks the beginning in this area of a program for rural community water and sewer system development through Farmers Home Administration loans and grants, under legislation (Continued on Page 24, Col. 4)

Witness Quotes Ex-SLA Head On Other Morhouse 'Deals'

NEW YORK (AP) — A prosecution witness has quoted Martin C. Epstein, deposed chairman of the State Liquor Authority (SLA), as saying he "had deals" with L. Judson Morhouse, former Republican state chairman, prior to alleged bribery to get a liquor license for the Playboy Club here.

Ralph Berger, Chicago businessman convicted of bribe conspiracy, testified Thursday at Morhouse's trial in the State Supreme Court.

Morhouse, who resigned as state GOP chairman in 1962 as the SLA corruption scandal was breaking, is on trial on bribery-conspiracy charges in connection with the Playboy Club license.

METEORITE?—With the air full of reports of unidentified flying objects (UFO's) any strange looking material is suspected. Carl A. Smith Jr. of 42 West Union Street found such an object (held here by his wife) while hunting in the Ulster Park area about a mile south of the Hercules Powder Company plant. At first he thought it was a tree stump, but after closer inspection, it turned out to be some type of rock fragment, black and rusty. Smith brought the object home and decided to find out what it was. After a trip to the physical science department at the State University College at New Paltz, the matter was brought to the attention of Miss Mary Kelly, an earth science teacher at Kingston High School. Miss Kelly said that the officials at New Paltz doubted that it was a meteorite fragment. "It certainly didn't look like a meteorite to me," Miss Kelly said. But I didn't want to state an opinion without consulting with an expert in the field. I suggested that the Smiths take the fragment to Albany where there is a museum on meteors." As of now that's where the issue stands. The Smith's strange fragment is still unidentified and only time, and the experts, will tell what it will turn out to be. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Fulbright Challenges Anew

Saigon Is Labeled 'Yankee Brothel'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring Barry Goldwater's demand that he step down as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. W. Fulbright has challenged new controversy by calling Saigon "an American brothel."

The outspoken Arkansas senator said what is happening to the capital of South Viet Nam is the result of the "fatal impact" that a rich strong civilization—"even when acting with the best of intentions"—can have on a poor weak one.

Notes Impact of Americans
Fulbright, concluding Thursday night his series of lectures at Johns Hopkins University's School of Advanced International Studies, said published reports of the impact of Americans and American money on Saigon show:

—"That many Vietnamese find it necessary to put their wives or daughters to work as bar girls or to peddle them to American soldiers as mistresses;

—"That it is not unusual to hear a report that a Vietnamese soldier has committed suicide out of shame because his wife was working as a bar girl."

—"That as a result of the American influx, bar girls, prostitutes, pimps, bar owners and taxi drivers have risen to the higher levels of the economic pyramid;

—"That middle class Vietnamese families have difficulties renting homes because Americans have driven up the rent beyond their reach and some Vietnamese families have actually been evicted from houses and apartments by landlords who prefer to rent to the affluent Americans."

"Both literally and figuratively, Saigon has become an American brothel," Fulbright said.

An outspoken critic of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, the senator delivered his lecture a few hours after Goldwater, the Republicans' 1964 presidential candidate, denounced him for what he termed carping criticism "that lends aid and comfort to our enemies."

Goldwater told a conference of Republican women that Fulbright "could do no greater service for his nation and the American fighting men in Viet Nam, than to resign as foreign relations committee chairman."

Goldwater said he was ashamed of Fulbright "telling the American people that our power has made Americans arrogant, and self-righteous, and expansionist and immoral."

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to fall in heavy trading early today. Some of the more speculative issues lost several dollars a share.

General Motors, whose cut-back in production at four plants coincided with Thursday's big drop, fell another $1.50 a share to a 1966 low of $87.

Fierce Battle Continues To Rage Near China Sea, 141 Cong Dead, 30 Held

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Fierce fighting raged today in central Viet Nam as American air cavalrymen closed in on a trapped Communist battalion. A U.S. spokesman said 141 Viet Cong had been killed in 24 hours, 30 captured and 307 suspects rounded up.

Exchange Heavy Fire
The U.S. command said elements of the 1st Air Cavalry, Airborne, Division exchanged heavy fire throughout the day with about 300 Viet Cong troops and that at last reports the Communist called Operation Ducky Crockett was continuing.

The battle — largest ground fighting in recent weeks — erupted Thursday about 10 miles north of Bong Son, near the China Sea and about 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

In the air war, the U.S. command announced the loss of two Navy planes Thursday in addition to an Air Force plane announced earlier. Two of the pilots parachuted safely to the ground but heavy anti-aircraft fire drove off rescue helicopters. The third pilot ejected into the Gulf of Tonkin and was rescued by a seaplane.

Plane Toll Now 231
A total of 231 planes now have been reported lost over the North.

The raiders came within 15 miles of Hanoi Thursday, a spokesman said, and attacked a road segment northeast of the North Vietnamese capital. Only once before in the war have American planes come that close to Hanoi. That was on April 17, when Air Force planes pounded missile sites 15 and 17 miles south and southwest of the capital.

The spokesman said Air Force and Navy planes flew a total of 48 missions in the North Thursday after a two-day lull due to bad weather. They also hit trucks 20 miles from Hanoi, railroad yards 35 miles north of it, and communication targets around Dien Bien Phu and Dong Hoi.

Honors Accorded 3 Local Schools For Journalism

Three Ulster County schools have been designated for National Certificates of Honor in the 29th Annual School Press Project. This was announced today by Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association. "The county division of the National School Press Project has been sponsored and developed for over a decade," Dr. Schwartz noted, "and the award program to present the National Honor Certificates to the school press staff representatives will be featured at the TB group's annual dinner meeting in June at the Governor Clinton Hotel."

The three outstanding school papers to receive this honor are: "Bennett Banner," Reginald R. Bennett Elementary School, Oneonta; "Chatterbox," Elementary School No. 7, Kingston Consolidated; and "The Finn Flash," Sophie G. Finn Elementary School, Kingston Consolidated.

The National School Press Project is sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association, the national affiliate of the Ulster County TB-RD group, and by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Here in Ulster County, the Press Project has been produced annually since 1951 by the TB-RD Association.

E. Robert Johnson, association executive director, pointed out that the school press project has proved itself an outstanding example by which student ability and understanding projected. "Specifically, the student staff producing each School Press entry must be governed by the goal of dissemination of accurate, current health information and thereby to alert youth to its own serious responsibility for its own health and the health of the community," he stated. "This outstanding press program successfully has encouraged our local, Ulster County school journalists to produce high quality issues dedicated to health, and further encourages good citizenship and the development of development of civic interest in our young people."

"The Ulster County School Press Project has proved an outstanding program with an exceptional state and national standing," Johnson noted. Since 1951, the Ulster County TB-RD Association has judged 71 original (Continued on Page 12, Col. 8)

B52 Stratoforts came in from Guam today to attack the Communist C zone near the Cambodian frontier for the eighth time in nine days. The U. S. 1st Infantry Division continued Operation Birmingham in the area some 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

U. S. fighter-bombers flew 313 sorties against suspected Communist targets in South Viet Nam Thursday with the airmen reporting many buildings destroyed or damaged, eight sampans demolished and seven Viet Cong killed.

The cavalry action near Bong Son began Wednesday with two light skirmishes.

Urban to Start Bus Service in Ulster Monday

Urban Transit Corporation will start bus service between Town of Ulster and Kingston Monday. Ceremonies at noon will mark the culmination of two year's effort by the bus company, Ulster Businessmen's Association and citizens in Kingston and Town of Ulster.

Among the dignitaries expected to attend are Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan of Kingston, Town of Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe, Frank A. Albright, president of Mountain View Coach Lines Inc. and Ronald H. Every, president of the Ulster Businessmen's Association.

Will Cut Ribbon

Ribbon cutting festivities will take place on Albany Avenue Extension near Harwich Street. Urban buses will start running running 7 a. m. from Wall and North Front Streets and will continue daily until 6 p. m. Friday service will be until 9 p. m. There will be no service on Sundays or holidays.

The route from Kingston to Boice's Lane in Town of Ulster will be North Front Street to Fair Street, Pearl Street to Albany Avenue continuing on Albany Avenue Extension to Boice's Lane. The return trip will follow the same route to Clinton Avenue, from there to Westbrook Lane going to Kingston Plaza Shopping Center, up Converse Street to the starting point on North Front Street.

Trips will start every hour on the hour from North Front Street and every hour on the half hour from Boice's Lane. One way trip is scheduled to take 30 minutes.

Mountain View Coachlines will operate seven buses a day from Albany Avenue Extension to the Crown Street bus terminal and six northbound trips.

Passengers may transfer to any Urban Transit buses in the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

Conq in a five mile area between the ridges and the north-south Highway One, not far from the east coast.

In the fighting Thursday, the spokesman said, the cavalrymen killed 100 Viet Cong. Heavy exchanges continued until near midnight and firing was sporadic for the rest of the night.

U. S. planes kept hammering at the Viet Cong through the night, and heavy shooting on the ground resumed.

Papers filed here today include one by Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy which requests that the court grant a judgment to the defendant, deny the application for a temporary injunction and for such other and further relief as to the court seems just.

The Common Council on April 22, with two aldermen absent, voted 9-2 in favor of the zoning change requested by Income Fund Enterprises, and Corporation Counsel Murphy holds that the vote was sufficient to adopt the measure, and that a vote of the full council was not necessary to act on the petition.

Points to Sewer Work
A point made in his paper filed today is that the petitioner had agreed to do certain sewer work as part of the Linderman Avenue project, and if this is not done it could ultimately cost the city $60,000 for the same work.

The paper is in the form of an affidavit submitted by City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle.

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, in a recent statement, indicated that he was not in favor of the proposed apartment development for the area.

Attorney Joseph D. Hill represents residents of the two wards who brought the action.

Central Registration Is Underway Locally
Central registration is now in effect and any voter who expects to be out of town on the regular registration dates next fall may register now at the Ulster County Board of Elections on the sixth floor of the County Office Building, Fair and Main Streets.

Where personal registration is required a voter must be registered to vote in November. Anyone who expects to be absent from the city on the regular days of registration may call at the Board of Elections office during business hours and register and be assured of his or her vote. Central registration continues to September.

Also while at the Board of Elections office a voter may make application for an absentee ballot if he or she will be absent on Election Day.

Any information in regard to central registration or eligibility for an absentee ballot, or any other problem in connection with voting on Election Day, may be obtained by calling or visiting the Ulster County Board of Elections.

Half on Alert
They also said that 50 per cent of the fleet of about 600 B52 bombers will continue to be held on strict alert, ready to take off on 15 minutes' warning. This is well within the maximum 30 minutes of warning that radar installations could provide in event of a Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile assault.

The airborne alert was put into effect in January 1961. This was the time when concern over a possible Russian missile attack was running high.

At that point, U.S. strategic nuclear striking strength was bound up almost wholly in the bomber force. And the radar warning system was not as highly developed as it is now.

In those days, the United States had only half a dozen intercontinental missiles and three Polaris missile-firing submarines in commission.

But now this country has about 900 intercontinental ballistic missiles in firing position, all of them in protected underground launch sites. It also has 36 Polaris subs in commission, mounting a total of more than 575 missiles capable of striking at Russia or Red China from beneath the sea.

Slate School Budget Study Early Next Week

Kingston's Board of Education members are continuing their study of items to be included in the 1966-67 budget for the Kingston Consolidated School District, and important meetings are planned for Monday and Tuesday nights.

Under the law, it was learned, the tentative budget for the next school year must be adopted by the board on or before Thursday, May 12, and on that night the school trustees are expected to meet to act on the budget.

The public hearing on the budget will be held in June. Meanwhile, reports are circulating relating to the possibility that the appropriation for the Adult Education Program would be slashed considerably and there is a possibility that the Adult Driver Education Program might be scrapped.

The driver education courses here have been conducted for years and have proven popular. That program is favorably supported by the National Educational Association, it was learned.

It is a known fact that the school board members have studied and are still closely scrutinizing and studying the Adult Education Program item.

According to partially confirmed reports the 1966-67 school district budget will be much higher than the 1965-66 budget, and a considerable increase in the tax rate is anticipated.

It was noted that the increases in the budget and tax rate will depend greatly on the size of the increase that is hoped for in state aid to the schools in this district.

Order Cut Of B52s Air Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a reduction in the continuous airborne alert of B52 bombers, it was disclosed today.

He told the House Appropriations Committee the constant bomber alert aloft, conducted for more than five years, no longer is needed because:

System Is Good
— The U.S. radar warning system is good enough to get the bomber force off the ground before enemy missiles can destroy the aircraft.

— Of "the declining importance of bombers in relations to missiles."

No indication of the extent of the reduction was available.

McNamara's testimony, given in secret earlier this year, seemed certain to arouse new criticism from advocates of the bomber and from those who question reliance on missiles.

The defense secretary's published words gave the impression that the airborne alert will be ended entirely.

Alert to Continue
But the Defense Department said this is not so — that there will continue to be an airborne alert, although reduced in size.

McNamara indicated the Joint Chiefs of Staff opposed his outdown move.

"I think the chiefs objected to eliminating all of the air alert," the Pentagon chief said. He added:

"I replied that they could carry on whatever airborne alert was consistent with the regular training program and would not require additional funds."

Defense sources said a portion of the bomber force will remain ready to take up a broader airborne alert, if this becomes necessary in an emergency.

They also said that 50 per cent of the fleet of about 600 B52 bombers will continue to be held on strict alert, ready to take off on 15 minutes' warning. This is well within the maximum 30 minutes of warning that radar installations could provide in event of a Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile assault.

The airborne alert was put into effect in January 1961. This was the time when concern over a possible Russian missile attack was running high.

State Grant Aids Alcohol Studies

Governor Rockefeller has announced that a grant of $60,276 has been made to the State University of New York at Buffalo to carry out the first year of a research program on liver disease in chronic alcoholics.

The grant is part of a total of $1,855,166 appropriated to the Department of Mental Hygiene this year for work in the field of alcoholism through support of inpatient treatment units in the state hospitals, outpatient clinics, research, halfway houses, and information referral services, throughout New York State.

In addition to research grants, the state has allocated $671,301 for grants in support of local services. Of this amount, $440,301 will be used to support out-patient alcoholism clinics operated by community mental health boards in Westchester, Onondaga, Nassau, Suffolk and Dutchess Counties, as well as New York City, and to support community organization projects offering information and referral services in Schenectady, Utica, Ithaca and New York City.

The alcoholism clinic in Dutchess County and located in Poughkeepsie is operated by the Dutchess County Mental Health Society, in cooperation with the Dutchess County Mental Health Board. This facility is not, in general, available to residents of Ulster County.

The Dutchess County Mental Health Board is similar to the Ulster County Mental Health Board in that it is also appointed by the County Board of Supervisors.

There is an additional $231,000 in grant funds available to support additional outpatient clinics and halfway houses.

Coeds Want Drinks

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The coeds at Rice University's Brown College have approved by a two-thirds majority a referendum which would permit alcoholic beverages in their rooms on a trial basis next fall. Students at the men's colleges already are allowed such privileges. The other university college with women students decided to leave the antiquor rule stand.

Levitt Critical Of Job Authority

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Job Development Authority is creating jobs but only on paper, says State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

Levitt said Thursday that an audit by his department for the period from Jan. 1, 1963 to March 31, 1965 showed an increase of 111 jobs created. The agency's "actual or estimated" figure for the period, however, was 803, Levitt said.

"We found that the existing data were inaccurate and incomplete, and that the authority reports...in terms of new jobs were substantially overstated," the Democratic comptroller charged.

Keith S. McHugh, chairman of the authority, replied that Levitt's charges and evaluation went "beyond his (Levitt's) scope."

The authority, which has the power to borrow up to $125-million, was established four years ago to improve job opportunities in chronic unemployment areas of the state. Part of its function is to lend money to non-profit development corporations to help build new plants or expand existing facilities.

The comptroller charged the authority had:

—Made loans in high unemployment areas at such low interest rates that the state would be "required to finance interest costs."

—Made loans "without any specific criteria as to employment gains or other benefits to be achieved."

—Made loans at low rates to firms without regard to their ability to finance projects.

McHugh said that the comptroller "ignores the fact the Legislature specifically authorized the authority to make interest rates on loans in critical economic areas as low as one per cent below the cost of bond money to the authority."

In addition, he said, "it is admittedly difficult" to obtain reliable estimates of employment gained or created.

A constitutional amendment to expand the scope of the agency's financing operations is expected to be on this November's ballot.

Would Permit Students Selective Service Test

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A university president says it would be an infringement of individual rights to deny to students the opportunity to face a Selective Service test, if they desire to do so.

Dr. Clifford C. Furnas of the State University of New York at Buffalo replied Thursday to a student-faculty group which opposed the examination scheduled on the campus May 21.

The voluntary test is being made available by the Selective Service to obtain factual information on students of draft age wishing to request deferment.

The Graduate-Faculty Committee on Selective Service conducted a sit-in demonstration outside Furnas' office earlier this week to object to the test.

Furnas said in a statement read by an aide to a student meeting that the test would be given "as a convenience to students who wish to take it."

He said it would be "an infringement on the rights of those students who desire to take the test if they were to be denied the opportunity by the actions of another group of students."

Stresses Growth Of New Library At Local College

Although limited by space, Ulster County Community College's library has developed a collection which Director Gordon L. Kidd said probably is the equal of any community college in the U. S. at the same stage of development.

The library now has 14,200 books on the shelves fully catalogued. By next September, it expects to have 15,500 books, an increase of 1,300.

Estimates are that the college will have 32,000 volumes by 1970 in its library on the Stone Ridge campus.

But despite its advances, the UCCC Library has been hindered by space limitations at its present quarters at 214 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, according to Kidd.

The present library shelving will be at maximum capacity by September.

"As a result," Kidd said, "the availability of new books will be limited until we move to the Stone Ridge campus."

He said the library, because of cramped quarters, has been unable to meet minimum requirements set by the American Library Association.

The association recommends that a college library should have enough seating so that 30 per cent of the student enrollment can sit in the library at any one time.

By these standards, Kidd said, the library should have seats for 180 students. But due to space limitations there are seats for only 48 students.

He said the association also recommends that a two-year college library should have a minimum of at least 20,000 books, and the UCCC library still is under this standard.

INDIAN HOPE DAWNING

Now that Robert L. Bennett has been duly sworn in as commissioner of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and admonished by President Johnson to clean house and get some "can-do people" to work, things are looking up for the Indians. Over-optimism is not warranted. There have been new starts before, and nothing much has come of them. But recent events do suggest that after a long, long time a new day may at last be dawning.

President Johnson has made it clear that he expects vigorous effort to wipe out the national shame of our treatment of the first Americans during the past century and more. Interior Secretary Udall is fully committed to making the Bureau a sharp and effective instrument to do this. He has called for a five-point program to open wider the door of opportunity to the tribal people. He seeks reorganization of the Bureau, new methods of training and assigning personnel, more rapid development of Indian resources, extension of tribal responsibility and a better system of cataloging tribal statistics to help discover usable skills.

As for Commissioner Bennett, his enlightened viewpoint was more or less summed up in something he said at the Santa Fe conference: "It is not enough to wait for the walk-in trade. If we're going to help the Indians we have got to walk ahead of them, not behind them."

For the first time in a long while, there is reason to feel that this attitude will be given enough impetus to bring about marked improvement in the status and opportunity of the Indian. It will take a lot of doing, a lot of hard work and a lot of cooperation between Indians and the Bureau. But the winds of hope are blowing through the reservations.

TO TELL OR NOT

Disclosure of a hitherto unknown wartime illness of Sir Winston Churchill re-opens discussion of the old conflict between the public's right to know and the danger of giving out certain information in times of crisis. Though the matter will not be resolved this time around, either, the episode does point up the question.

The disclosure is made by Churchill's physician, Lord Moran, in an extract from a forthcoming book. This states that on Dec. 26, 1941, while on a mission to Washington, the British leader suffered a moderate heart attack.

The usual treatment would be at least six weeks of bed rest. Lord Moran dreaded the consequences of telling the world that the prime minister was an invalid with a crippled heart and a doubtful future, just after the United States had entered the war. He therefore did not disclose the illness.

American history has a parallel. In President Cleveland's second term a physician discovered a cancerous spot on his throat. As this was during a severe depression, with commercial and banking confidence at a low ebb, it was thought best not to disclose the president's ailment. An operation was performed while he cruised on a friend's yacht, and no outsider knew of it until Cleveland himself revealed the episode in his memoirs some years later.

These cases may argue the wisdom of withholding information. But then there was the more recent case of President Eisenhower's illness, with public confidence bolstered by full disclosure of his condition. And so the debate—to tell or not to tell—goes on. Despite the Churchill and Cleveland cases, we believe the public interest is best served by publishing all pertinent information about officials.

INCOME AND OUTGO

Calorie counting has come to be accepted as synonymous with doing something about overweight. It fills the bill pretty well. But the method can be a lot more effective if the calories are counted both coming and going instead of merely coming.

This is not as mysterious as it sounds. All we have in mind is keeping tabs not only on the calorie intake, but on how many calories are burned up. Dieting that 'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WILL THE COMMUTER LET HIMSELF BE TAXED?

This "taxation without representation" theme is getting another play. For when big city mayors, such as New York's John Lindsay, propose to tax their commuters, they are reaching out for the incomes of people who don't vote for them.

The situation, in its own curious way, is an almost exact parallel to the one which the American colonists faced two hundred years ago in the Seventeenth Sixties. The argument then was that Massachusetts, New York, and Pennsylvania men ought to kick in with some income to the British Crown, inasmuch as they had derived a very palpable benefit from Red Coat protection against the French and the Indians on the frontier. Just so the big city mayors are now contending that commuters are protected at the end of their daily travels by the metropolitan police and fire departments and the sanitary codes, to say nothing of the benefits received in the city because of its various amenities.

The argument should be convincing, but it is just as likely to leave the commuter as cold as any colonist objecting to the long arm of King George III's finance ministers. For the commuter, like the colonist, is already taxed at home, where he does have representation. When the big city reaches out for him, he feels he is being placed in double jeopardy.

The commuter thinks that he has left the city because its disadvantages outweigh its advantages. Its schools are bad because of the influx of families who have come to town without considering the strain which overcrowding must place on limited facilities. The crime rate is up because the police department was not fashioned to deal with the muggings, the assaults and the robberies that have grown out of the proliferation of the narcotics habit. The big city smog is acrid and choking; it is more than your life is worth to get sun and air for your children. As for cultural amenities, the electronics revolution means that you are no longer dependent on a local theatre or a music hall.

So what are these big city advantages which the Mayor thinks you should help finance? Your answer, as a commuter, is that you bring more to the city than you take out of it. You enable a local business to find the talent it needs to make a profit, which is to the city's advantage. You eat at noon in a local restaurant, which helps the city's economy. You buy in the city, and, incidentally, pay a sales tax on your purchases. And, since you are paying school taxes in a suburb, you don't know why you should be called upon to support city schools as well.

Now, since the city can argue that it provides you with a source of revenue by making a job for you, the Mayor undoubtedly has some case for reaching out toward your pocket. Simply by creating a marketplace, the city contributes to the success of its businesses. But the modern question is, how dependent on the city is the modern business? It is in the attempt to answer this question that our mayors will stand or fall.

Our big city mayors had better think long and hard on this subject, for there are no easy answers. Computerized communications mean that lots of businesses can be conducted from the suburbs. Shopping centers can spring out of the woods. A stock exchange can be set up almost anywhere. Interviews and business conversations are no longer dependent on face-to-face meetings. Factories can find electric power outside of big cities as well as inside them. National newspapers are better off if they can dodge dependence on big metropolitan printers' unions. There is no reason TV programs or advertisements or books should originate in the Seventeenth District of Manhattan; people can think and put pen to paper in Nassau County, Long Island, or in Princeton, New Jersey.

The big city still has many advantages. But the commuter has already chosen to forego them in favor of his own suburban delights. The probability is that he won't submit lightly to taxation without representation at the hands of any mayor he did not help elect.

Circulation Still Exists Despite Air-Conditioning

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is it unhealthy to breathe the same air day in and day out in an air-conditioned building? Some people prefer window fans and others say the fans bring in dust and dampness. What do you think?

A—The large units that condition the air in big public buildings wash and filter the air before it is recirculated.

Some single-room air conditioners in homes may be adjusted to bring in or exclude outside air but in either case there is some circulation of air from the outside.

Window fans will bring in dust unless they are provided with filters and will bring in moisture if the outside air is damper than that on the inside, in which case a dehumidifier may be needed.

Q—I was in the hospital with what my doctor called basilar vertebral insufficiency. What is this? The medicine he prescribed is Pavril. What is it for and are there any bad side effects?

A—Basilar-vertebral insufficiency refers to impairment of the circulation of the brain. The drugs you are taking relaxes blood vessel spasm and is not habit-forming. In too large a dose it may cause nausea, dizziness, sweating and abdominal cramps.

Q—My husband, 49, has a calcium deposit on the left side of his brain. What caused it? Is it a form of cancer? Can it be cured?

A—The calcium deposit is probably in the blood vessels of the brain. This is a form of hardening of the arteries and is not related to cancer. For changes that have already taken place there is no cure. Your doctor will try to check the progress of the disease.

Recent X-rays revealed that I have Paget's disease of my thigh bones. What is it and what is the treatment?

A—Paget's disease (osteitis deformans) is seen in persons who are over 40. The cause is unknown. In this disease there is first a softening, with some bowing, in the long bones of the leg and thigh followed by a hardening and thickening of the bones in their new shape. In the early stages the affected bones are painful.

Aspirin and small doses of sodium fluoride will relieve the pain and the latter drug combined with vitamin C and milk or other sources of calcium will prevent further development of the disease. The victim should not stop walking because the exercise improves the circulation in the bones and helps to keep them in good condition.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

ignores the role of exercise does only half the job.

The calorie counter, typically, goes about with a little book of calorie tables; so many in a soft boiled egg, so many in a slice of bread, and so forth. The book is consulted often during the day, and heroic dieters turn down many a goodie after the day's quota of calories has been reached. But some knowledge of how many calories are consumed—by an hour's walking or swimming, say—also is important. The balance between caloric intake and outgo is the thing.

"As of Now the Situation's Well in Hand!"

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some- times relocating a South Vietnamese hamlet pays off.

In one month recently, in rural Quang Duc Province on the Cambodian border, six Viet Cong guerrillas walked in and gave themselves up.

Now that isn't very many guerrillas in the over-all war. But it amazed men in Quang Duc because, before that, only one VC had come in every two to three months.

What interested the officials in this border province was the reason these Viet Cong gave for quitting the fight.

Before, they said, they'd been operating as guerrillas in the hills close to their families. They could come in and see their families and old friends — spend the night.

Now that their hamlets were being moved, they couldn't do this any more without too great a risk.

The new hamlets were close in to government troops. They were further away from where their VC units were operating. Therefore, they had to dodge more government patrols to get home.

These VC had talked to their families, they said, and their families had persuaded them to come in and give themselves up. (The families had said, too, that the new farmland looked good.)

Several provinces south of Saigon likewise have reported a step-up in VC defections.

THESE FORMER VC REPORTED that in previous years the Viet Cong recruits had been sent to units in their home neighborhoods. They weren't sent out of the province. They could often go home at night.

But, these young men said, the new VC recruiting that they had been caught in was of a different type. They had been ordered to move into units in central Viet Nam, a long way from their homes. They weren't about to go off so far from their families. So they deserted.

Some of the men captured from the North Vietnamese southern expeditionary army have complained strongly about having been taken too far from their families. Some with families in the south have deserted because of their loneliness.

IN PAST YEARS, Viet Cong recruiters have had one edge on the government's agents. These VC could argue that if the government's army took the youth, he'd be carted away from his family to fight and die away from home.

The VC, by contrast, promised the young man he could fight as a guerrilla in his own district, get home regularly to see his family.

But this is now changing in parts of South Viet Nam. This love of home and family offers an effective way to step up the number of Viet Cong deserters.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Two-thirds of the 20th century is past. What is going to happen in the concluding 33 years and 6 months? By looking backward, we get a misty look into the future. It is an exciting and fruitful picture.

One of the certainties is that, for at least 30 years, we have been living in the midst of an explosion of knowledge. The farther out the pieces fly, the faster we learn. In medicine, electronics, physics, engineering, communications, automation, weapons, mathematics—the more man discovers, the swifter the rate of absorption, which creates more mental frontiers to explore.

In the process, man has fallen behind the machine—he has created. This causes loss of identity and dignity. He could become a transister in a time machine. A million men cannot kill a million men in 30 minutes, but one of man's missiles can do it economically.

"We can make any kind of world that man can agree upon," says Dean Jerome B. Weisner of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "and if we don't learn to agree a bit better, man's days upon this planet may be numbered." Unfortunately, a such agreement is not scientific; it's political.

Political science has not advanced. It still consists of the rulers and the ruled. The elect have divided the world into color combinations and nations which, in turn, have been fused into power blocs. Power is useless unless it is used, so the blocs use it to threaten the security of others.

The weaponry of the two major groups is now so powerful that no one dares use it. In this sense, power becomes powerless. It is worthless except for the fact that it is there.

In communications, the progress is in light years. Reflector satellites will hang around the world like a rhinestone necklace, and they will bring us live television shows from Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia. Theoretically, man will fly a plane which will get him to his destination before he leaves home. A Londoner will leave on a supersonic jet at noon, and arrive in New York at 9:30 a. m. Or, to make it dizzying, he may fly from Tokyo at noon on Monday and arrive in Los Angeles at 11 p. m. the day before. News, within a decade, will not only print itself automatically, it will come close to writing itself.

The knowledge stored in sophisticated computers is so vast today that it is almost beyond imagination, which is to say beyond intelligent use. The "brains" in a computer today can even tell us how to build a better computer. This starts a dynasty of computers, which can outthink a genius in milliseconds and, before the close of this century, will assume the management of business.

Education can save man. He needs more of it—much more—and he must learn to absorb knowledge faster. Soon, education will continue until the fortieth year of life. After that, the ability to comprehend new ideas is impaired. School grades, as such, will be abolished, and subjects will be assigned to little ones by aptitude and natural talent.

DeGaulle's Pullout Termed Big Soviet Cold War Victory

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The biggest victory the Soviet Union has won in the "Cold War" has just been made possible by President DeGaulle of France with the announcement which means, in effect, that the entire plan for the defense of Western Europe by the United States and its allies now must be discarded. It could conceivably forecast a victory, too, for the aggressors someday in a "hot war" in which nuclear weapons are not used but land armies once more overrun Western Europe.

The French government's order declaring that the United States and its allies will not be permitted hereafter to count on a continuing right to fly military planes over French territory will certainly disrupt existing plans for the defense of the Continent.

No One Disapproves
Strangely enough, although General DeGaulle has violated the North Atlantic Treaty, no word of disapproval on that point has been uttered here. Yet the treaty carries an explicit agreement that the United States shall come instantly to the defense of France if the latter is attacked. But with no American troops in France and an inability to rely on the French army or Navy or air force in any integrated plan for the defense of Europe, retaliatory action cannot be effectively carried out at once against an aggressor, as was contemplated by the original treaty.

General DeGaulle is planning to visit Moscow on June 20. He has served notice already that he will not allow NATO forces to use any military bases in France. This undoubtedly was received with rejoicing inside the Kremlin, for it clearly means that the entire concept of Allied defense in Europe is no longer suitable.

Not only is it impracticable from a strategic, tactical or logistic point of view to count on French aid now, but doubts are raised also as to whether missiles fired from Polaris submarines along the coast would be regarded as breaking the rule if they pass over French territory to reach an enemy destination beyond. There is some question, too, as to whether American naval vessels are ever going to be able to use French ports. Incidentally, it has just been announced that a Soviet warship has been invited by President DeGaulle to pay an unprecedented visit to a NATO port in France on May 29.

Without a network of land bases and with naval operations along the seacoast inhibited, the NATO apparatus for communication which must be maintained through radar and other methods is paralyzed by the latest French prohibition.

For Instant Aid
Originally the United States entered into the NATO pact in order to serve notice that it would not wait a year or two before deciding whether to come to aid of Europe, but would instantly respond whenever an attack occurred. With France virtually pulling out of NATO, the whole strategic situation is changed.

Up to now, a cautious policy has been pursued here. Such expressions of disapproval as have been made have come from minor officials, the United States has not, outwardly at least, expressed its dismay that France would violate the spirit, if not the letter, of the NATO treaty and join in effect, with the Communist nations instead of with those countries of the free world which have twice befriended France and saved that republic from complete destruction.

General De Gaulle's policy has not been formulated suddenly. Ever since 1959 he has been hinting at a gradual withdrawal from the western alliance. But the assumption has been that he really would never go that far. He is now coming close to a break-up, and the realistic fact is that the United States must call an "agonizing reappraisal." It must decide whether Europe can best be defended by assisting West Germany to become a greater military power or whether America should abstain and let Europe run the risk of being overrun someday by the Communists.

American business and economic affairs are so closely intertwined with Europe's that there is a natural hesitation to cause any schisms among Western European governments. But General De Gaulle has brought about a crisis. It must soon be determined exactly how Europe can really be defended in the future and whether the United States is to be precluded by France's obstructive policies from coming to the aid of European countries in time to save them from another holocaust.

Matter of Fact

Brandy, for some, the perfect way to end a sumptuous meal, is a spirituous liquor distilled from the fermented juices of grapes or other fruits. It is usually aged for some time in wood. The word "brandy" came into the English language originally as brandywine or brandewine from the Dutch brandewijn, from branden "to burn," "distill," plus wijn, "wine."

Sees Snatch, Run Rescues Great Jet Set Activity

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — It's a little slow to be ideal under fire, but the Air Force's new snatch-and-run rescue system promises to be a great sport for the jet set.

Land and sea pickups of six men in the past three days averaged about 40 minutes per rescue.

That's a long time to advertise — with a light balloon necessary to the operation — the presence of a downed flier or a reconnaissance team awaiting recovery from enemy territory.

But everyone of the six volunteers jerked skyward from desert or raft found the experience so exhilarating that he wanted to do it again.

It's something like skydiving in reverse.

A long-range cargo plane — a specially equipped four-engine Lockheed MCL30H — drops a kit containing a folded balloon, tanks of helium to inflate it, a long nylon cable, and a flight suit with a built-in harness.

The man on the surface dons the suit, hooks the line to the harness, and inflates the balloon, which is tethered by the cable.

The cargo plane circles and snags the cable in a fork on its nose, just below the balloon. The impact severs the line and the balloon rises to a height of 4,500 feet, where it explodes.

The cable, locked in the fork, stretches and gently lifts the man into the air, then the cable is reeled in and the man is hauled up into the plane.

For a few seconds, while the cable is stretching, the man rises upwards slowly. Then, like a rubber band, the cable snaps back and the man streaks upward like a hooked fish jerked from a pond.

Driver Is Fined $50 on Brake Charges in Crash

Charged with operating a motor vehicle with inadequate brakes as the result of a collision involving two school buses on Route 28, Phoenicia, on March 22, Paul D. Alexander, 28, of Old Route 28, Glenford, was found guilty by a jury Thursday night.

Trooper Craig Bremer of the Kingston substation said a jury returned the guilty verdict after trial before Justice of the Peace George Kirk, Town of Shandaken. Alexander was fined $50.

After the collision last month, State Police said Howard M. Dunn, 58, of Route 28, Phoenicia, was driving a 1965 bus owned by the Onteora Central School District west on Route 28 about a mile west of Route 28A, Town of Shandaken, when he pulled out to pass a car parked on the north shoulder of the road.

Troopers reported Alexander, driving a 1960 bus owned by the Lakeview Transit Corp., Lake Katrine, was following and Alexander also pulled out to pass the parked vehicle. Alexander, authorities said, told investigating troopers that he thought he saw the first bus slowing and he applied the brakes of the 1960 bus. He said the brakes failed and the buses collided.

Church Persecution Aired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was told today there is ample evidence that Communist North Korea has attempted to eradicate Christianity, while religious persecution in North Viet Nam has been concealed and indirect.

A Library of Congress report, prepared for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said before World War II about 300,000 Christians lived in the north of Korea.

This number had dropped to about 200,000 by 1949, the report said, and "just before North Korea started the Korean war the Communist persecution of Christianity intensified."

In North Viet Nam, the Communist regime has avoided open religious persecution, the study said. But it added that a close examination shows indirect means of persecution through land reform and counter revolutionary activities.

Thinks Conditions May Cut Meaning Of Viet Ballot

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A leader of one of South Viet Nam's major nationalist parties said today elections in the country will have no meaning unless two thirds of the people are able to vote freely.

He estimated that only about one fifth could do this at present.

Ha Thuc Ky, secretary-general of a faction of the Dai Viet party and no relation to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, said that the elections promised by the military government could be held only in cities and towns under present conditions.

"The peasants and farmers could not vote," Ky said in an interview. "These would not be true elections. They would be a fake."

"The Viet Cong are cunning and might even stop fighting in some areas to make them appear secure, then infiltrate for the voting."

He suggested at least six months for organizing elections and an interim civilian government.

ment to serve during the period. As now planned by the government, Ky said, the elections "will only be a show to satisfy the foreigners. It will not be representative of the people."

Ky, 47, a forestry engineer who served briefly as interior minister in 1964, also predicted that the voting promised by the military junta in the fall would produce a Buddhist-controlled National Assembly.

"The Buddhists want to oust the Americans and leave this country to neutralism," he said.

Ky spent five years in prison for political activity under the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. He said the Dai Viet party is not organized on regional or religious lines.

Phone Tip Leads To Spa Arrest In Sniper Case

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—An anonymous telephone tip Thursday night led State Police to William H. Bouford Jr., who was arrested and charged with murder in the sniper-shooting two months ago of his estranged wife.

Bouford was well-dressed, clean shaven and did not resist arrest when found in a garage in this Upstate community, troopers said.

The 45-year-old ex-house painter, who had lived in Ballston Spa, was arraigned on a charge of first-degree murder before Justice of the Peace Morgan Bloodgood in the Town of Malta.

Bouford pleaded innocent. His case was adjourned until May 13.

Troopers did not say where the garage was located other than it was "attached to a multi-family dwelling" in the city. Bouford had two suitcases of clothing in his possession, troopers said.

Soon after Mrs. Eileen Bouford was shot on March 7, State Police issued a 13-state alarm for Bouford's arrest.

Mrs. Bouford, 33, was putting her pet cat to bed in a shed at the rear of her parent's home in the Town of Malta when she was shot. A single bullet slammed through the shed window, the cat, and Mrs. Bouford's hand and heart. The cat also was killed.

The woman had been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Atkins, for about a month. She had separated from Bouford last summer.

Police did not reveal a possible motive, nor has the weapon been found. They said, however, it was believed to be a high-powered rifle.

Fish Assails Resnick's Vote On Pro-Inflation

Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress, today charged Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick voted for inflation, and against economy on five out of six key anti-inflation measures brought to the floor of the House of Representatives during the last month.

On the sixth measure, aimed at cutting inflationary pressures, Congressman Resnick failed to vote at all, Fish stated.

Fish explained that three of the appropriations added up to $27 million. "Although relatively small, such economies would be a step toward holding down prices for the people of this District," Fish explained.

Two of the bills voted for by the Democratic incumbent, Fish added, represented major efforts at economy. These motions called for a return of proposed appropriations to committee for five per cent cut back for the departments of the Interior, Post Office, and Treasury.

"Congressman Resnick should realize that continuing inflation will raise the cost of government administration and effectively cut these appropriations which Resnick recklessly helped push through," Fish said.

"I believe Mr. Resnick should remember that most salaried persons of this district next month must begin to stretch a reduced check over higher prices because of the new withholding regulations. I urge Congressman Resnick to declare his independence of the Johnson inflationary society, and side with the average voter of this District against the spiraling costs," Fish said.

Expect Congress to Boost Budget More Than $3 Billion

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's prediction that Congress might boost his budget to the tune of $3 billion appears conservative in the light of recent developments on Capitol Hill.

During the week ending today, Congress or its committees have approved legislation calling for outlays of around $2.15 billion more than the President requested for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Added $2.8 Billion
Overall, the election-year Congress has tentatively added an estimated $2.8 billion to Johnson's requests since the session started in January. And the session is not yet at the halfway mark, according to the congressional adjournment timetable.

In some of the budget-busting moves, the few leaders in the campaign to slash federal spending have gone along with the increases. In others they have offered only token opposition in the face of certain defeat.

The House started off the week's spending spree by passing without an audible dissenting vote a $2.95 billion higher education bill which rejected the President's plan to save about $160 million by shifting much of the student loan financing from public to private lenders. The authorization bill still must be considered by the Senate and financed later.

The House followed that action Thursday by sending to the Senate a bill to appropriate $10.5 billion to finance the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the year starting July 1.

Includes School Aid
The bill included $489.2 million more than the President sought, much of the extra money being for payments to school districts in an estimated 350 congressional districts. The budget-cutters tried to reduce the school payments by $232.8 million but lost by a standing vote of 132 to 25.

Off the floor of Congress, the House Armed Services Committee added about $1.5 billion to the annual military procurement bill which must be financed in a later measure.

The increase over authorization requested by the President was $931 million for procurement, about $420 million for military pay hikes and an estimated $116 million for medical care for dependents of military personnel. Johnson did not include the latter two programs in his budget.

The Senate also passed a military procurement bill last week, but that measure called for only $443.1 million more than the President requested. There was no opposition on the voice vote.

Earlier last week the House sent to the Senate the annual Agriculture Department appropriation bill providing $128 million more than the President requested. Much of the increase was for such popular programs as free milk for children and free or cut-rate school lunches.

Even Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, top Republican on the Appropriations Committee and titular leader of the GOP economy drive, opposed an amendment to cut the bill's spending by 5 per cent.

About the only bright spot in the budget picture from the President's point of view was a cut of $305 million recommended by the House Appropriations Committee Thursday.

Drivers Booked In City Mishap, Woman Injured

A woman was injured in a car-truck mishap at Smith Avenue and Grand Street Thursday afternoon and both drivers were booked for traffic violations.

Police said Mary Sorochinski, 74, of Box 223, Route 2, Saugerties, riding in a car driven by John Sorochinski, 71, of the same address, suffered wrist, forehead and body injuries and was taken to the Benedictine Hospital by Fatum ambulance. Her condition was reported fair today.

The truck owned by Sicker's Delivery Service Inc., O'Neil Street, police said, was driven by Morgan D. Ryan Jr., 20, of 214 Manor Avenue. Both drivers were charged with operating vehicles with unsafe tires and Sorochinski was also cited for a stop-sign violation.

Police said the panel truck was headed south on Smith Avenue as the car moved east on Grand Street. The truck struck a firehydrant. Officers Weston Hoffay and Curtis VanDeMark investigated the mishap reported at 2:50 p. m.

Ryan was fined $5 in city court today and hearing of Sorochinski was put over to May 10 to permit him time to obtain counsel.

Leary Talks

Says Controversy Over LSD From Older Element

WASHINGTON (AP) — Timothy Leary, describing himself as "the world's leading authority" on hallucinatory drugs, told an overflow crowd at American University Thursday night that the controversy over LSD is a "panic and terror of an older generation facing acceleration of consciousness."

"The LSD crisis is a socio-political issue," Leary said. He contended millions of Americans are addicted to nicotine and alcohol but that an uneducated public has condemned LSD and marijuana, which he termed mind-expanded chemicals.

Leary, 45, a former Harvard University psychology professor, was sentenced to 30 years in jail and fined $30,000 on March 11 by a federal judge in Laredo, Tex., for two narcotics violations. Enforcement of the sentence is being stayed pending physical and psychiatric examinations.

About 1,500 persons filled the Leonard Center on the university campus to hear his lecture, sponsored by the student newspaper.

Say Ulbricht Vacation Has Strife Overtones

BERLIN (AP) — An announcement that East German Communist party chief Walter Ulbricht has gone on vacation is arousing speculation that the party leadership is split over the proposed public debate with the West German Socialists on German reunification.

There are even reports that Ulbricht is losing his grip and may retire on his 73rd birthday June 30.

But diplomatic sources in West Berlin said the announcement Wednesday of Ulbricht's departure from Berlin may have been only a sign to the West Germans not to expect the deadlock over the debate to be resolved in the immediate future. The talks are stalled over their timing.

The West German Socialist party wants the initial dialogue to be held in East Germany this month, followed by another in West Germany in June or July. The East German Communist party wants the debate to start in July.

Market Plunges

and traders sought to determine whether the administration would raise taxes. Administration spokesmen have generally discounted any immediate increase despite proposals by economists, including William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that a tax increase is needed to put a lid on inflation.

Workshops Set Here for Zone Teachers Group

The Classroom Teachers Council and the TEPS Committee of the Southern zone of the New York State Teacher's Association is sponsoring a program of workshops and dinner to be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 11 at New Paltz Central School.

Dr. Robert N. King, director of instruction in the Glens Falls City School District, will be guest speaker at the dinner.

Workshop topics include: income protection insurance, legal services, professional ethics, salary schedules, fringe benefits and teacher-school relations.

Mrs. Marjorie Glenn, teacher at the Duzine School, is chairman of the conference.

Students Attend Council Conclave

Five members of the Student Council of New Paltz High School and their advisor, Albert Fiore, attended a Student Council Workshop in Ellenville, recently.

After listening to the opening speech given to the president of Ellenville's Student Council, the representatives divided into buzz groups to discuss better relations with other schools and new ideas. Many new and interesting concepts were introduced and New Paltz representatives came home with some wonderful ideas to better the council and make it more efficient.

After the buzz group sessions students returned to the auditorium to hear reports by the secretaries of the buzz groups. They then voted on regulations that, when passed, would go either to county, state or federal legislatures.

The meeting terminated with the election of officers to the State Student Council. The members run headquarters for the Student Council across the State.

The members in attendance were Francine Minadeo, Sandra Martino, Stephanie Weston, Joe Moriello, John Rollins, and Fiore, council advisor.

Retired city employee Elbert L. Soper, husband of the late Florence B. Hughes Soper, who served both as a member of the Kingston Police Department and as a member of the Kingston Paid Fire Department, died Thursday. He retired as a police officer in 1954.

Mr. Soper was a member of the original Paid Fire Department having been appointed a substitute fireman Jan. 1, 1908 when the department was activated. It was on Aug. 10, 1907 that the Paid Department was formed when the Board of Fire Commissioners held its first meeting. Mr. Soper was among others who were named to the new Paid Department on Nov. 9, 1908, as a substitute fireman and he served in that capacity after assuming his duties on Jan. 1, 1908, until his appointment as a regular member of the Department on July 11, 1910.

Others Appointed Then

It was on Jan. 1, 1908 that the late Fire Chief Howard Chipp also assumed his duties with the new department as chief engineer and fire marshal. Chief Joseph L. Murphy, retired, was named assistant chief and the marshal. Also appointed to the Department along with Mr. Soper on Jan. 1, 1908, was the late Captain Wright Maines.

In both the Fire Department and Police Department Mr. Soper held the distinction of being the first man to operate motorized equipment. While a member of the Kingston Fire Department, prior to joining the Police Department he drove the old horse-drawn equipment and later when the department was motorized he was the first to drive the motorized hook and ladder equipment out of Central Fire Station. Later, after joining the Kingston Police Department on Dec. 1, 1917, he became the first motorcycle officer and was well remembered as a motorcycle officer for many years.

He remained on the police force for 29 years, retiring April 15, 1954, at the age of 70. Prior to becoming a member of the police department, Mr. Soper had been employed by the late J. Graham Rose, purchasing agent for the Cockendall Estate.

A lifelong resident of Kingston, Mr. Soper was born March 30, 1884, son of the late Silas P. and Sarah M. Baker Soper. Prior to the death of Mrs. Soper on Sept. 20, 1960, Mr. and Mrs. Soper had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary earlier that year.

A member of the Kingston Patrolman's Association Mr. Soper was also an honorary member of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company No. 4.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Walter (Mildred) Klonowski of 8 Hilton Place, Kingston, with whom he made his home, and a sister, Mrs. Marion DuBois of Fairport.

Says Mao Rests Following Attack, On Rigid Diet

HONG KONG (AP) — A former Communist newswoman was quoted today as saying Chinese Communist leader Mao Tze-tung is recuperating from a heart condition complicated by high blood pressure but soon may be able to reappear in public.

The reputable non-Communist New Life Evening Post, which carried the story, did not identify its source by name but described him as a "reliable journalist."

Mao, according to the Post's report, "is now resting under strict doctors' supervision in Kuling, 'a summer resort area near Lushan, in Kiangsi Province."

He was reported on a rigid diet and under doctor's orders forbidding virtually all activity. But the report said Mao appeared to be making a steady recovery and "could make a public appearance at any moment — at least not later than October this year."

Late last year, the source reported, Mao was in more serious condition in Hangchow but improved and within the last three months was moved to Kuling for rest and recuperation.

Mao disappeared from public view after meeting Cambodian Defense Minister Lon Nor in Peking Nov. 26. His long absence led to speculation around the world that he was dying.

Expect May 10 Blast

TOKYO (AP) — Chief Cabinet Secretary Tomisaburo Hashimoto said Friday that information from specialists indicates that Communist China will explode its third nuclear device about May 10.

Hashimoto did not identify the specialists. He said the Japanese government was informed by the U.S. government at the end of April that Peking was preparing for another nuclear blast, possibly an experimental hydrogen bomb.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

To View Attire For Summertime At Tuesday Club

The very latest styles in summer clothes will be paraded in a fashion show at the May 10 meeting of the Tuesday Club of Woodstock at 1:30 p. m.

Models, under the sponsorship of the Little Shop of Woodstock, will show cottons, silks and sportswear. Members of the Tuesday Club will model attire and Mrs. Harry Alpern of the local women's clothing store will direct the event to which the public is invited.

Commentator for the event, who will give fashion highlights and describe each garment as it is modeled, will be Elzora Martin.

A brief business meeting will precede the fashion show and refreshments will be served later by a committee which includes Priscilla Everts, Marie Kreyer, Louise Van Valkenburgh, Annette Dietz and Emily Milora. The club plans to close what has been a highly successful season with its June meeting, which will take the form of a luncheon for members only at Leherb's Restaurant, Kingston, June 14.

Feted on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin DeGraff, of Ohayo Mountain Road, Woodstock, were the guests of honor at a surprise anniversary party recently.

The occasion was the 40th wedding anniversary of the couple and the surprise party was given for them by members of the immediate family.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Rifenburg and daughter Beth; David DeGraff, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon DeGraff and children, Gary, Duane, Cheryl and Vicki.

The DeGraffs are well-known in Woodstock and Benjamin DeGraff is a former superintendent of highways for the township.

40 Artists Back Teenagers Quest For Youth Center

Woodstock artists this season have proved they are as vitally concerned with community and civic endeavors as they are with their own personal work. Forty local artists have recently contributed paintings to build with; donated them to Woodstock teenagers for use in their art auction to help defray the cost of a Youth Center building here.

Such a building has been advocated by teenagers and their backers for several years for recreational use by teenagers and to provide meeting and activity space for such groups as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Little League, etc.

Teenagers themselves have raised more than $3,000 toward the construction of a Youth Center over the past two years. The contributions of works of art by local artists will be offered at an auction to benefit the Youth Center Building Fund on June 5 at the Kleinfert Gallery, Tinker Street. An exhibition of the works may be viewed at the gallery from June 3 to the auction date.

This latest fund raising endeavor follows various other enterprises instituted by local teenagers in an effort to raise $5,000 for presentation to the local Town Board in the hope that the Board will lend approval to a Youth Center building. The Board has made no move in this direction, although the idea of such a building has been broached over a 20 year period. Teenagers hope to gain action on the project by showing their good will and an ability to work constructively for themselves.

To build such good will, local youngsters have cleaned up the village following annual Halloween carousing, worked with the March of Dimes and Cancer Drive, aided the Garden Club in planting flowers on the Village Green and clearing the Green of refuse. In addition to monies raised through their own efforts, teenagers have received contributions toward a Youth Center from several local organizations. It was Woodstock artists, however, who gave teenagers their biggest boost toward a building by contributing paintings two years ago for the first art auction. The 1966 auction will offer works by such artists as:

Robert Angeloch, Jane Exel, Victor Basil, Arnold Blanch, Gladys Brodsky, Manuel Bromberg, Brock Brokenshaw, Clare Bush, Richard Crist, Paul De Zaura, Bruce Currie, B. Sturtevant Gardner, Stephanie Godwin, Grace Greenwood, Carolyn Haberlein, Rosella Hartman and Cornelia Hartman.

Also, Don Ito, Robert Jacobson, Donald Jennings, Sidney Laifman, Doris Lee, Ethel Magafan, George Malkine, Fletcher Martin, John McClellan, Maude Petersham, Walter Plate, Anton Rrefregier, Daniel Revzan, Bernard Staffen, Frances Stein, Dudley Summers, Nancy Summers, Harry Tedlie, William Ward, Kenneth White, Reginald Wilson, Earle Winslow and Jean Young.

Touring Season Ends for Turnau

Turnau Opera Players end their 1965-66 tour of Don Pasquale in Laurelton, L. I., Saturday. The local company's tour of this Donizetti comedy began last October with performances at Ontario High School and was presented in six stagings during the Turnau's recently completed Florida season. When the company broke up its stand in Sarasota, the tour resumed and, with the performance scheduled this Saturday in Laurelton, the company will have given 27 performances of Don Pasquale to audiences from Oklahoma to Michigan.

Turnau singers and the technical crew travel by station wagon with a trailer attached for transporting scenery and costumes. The touring cast includes the same group which performed at the Byrdcliffe Theater in Woodstock last summer.

Principals are Carol Toscano as Merina; Alan Baker as Dr. Malatesta; and John Thomas as Ernesto. The only new member of the group is Chester Thornhill, who directs the opera and sings the title role. Herbert Kaplan is musical director of the tour and Ward Pinner, long-time manager of the company, serves as technical director and adds the comic touch to performances by emotions in the role of the ostensible notary, Cousin Carlo.

Turnau has already announced plans to tour in La Traviata next year. A brand new production of this Verdi masterpiece will be presented at the Byrdcliffe Theater this summer; go on tour for the fall, winter and spring.

Hits OCS Design On New Addition As Fire Hazard

A resident of the Ontario Central Schools District has criticized the architectural design of the contemplated 20-classroom addition at the high school in Boiceville, the $2,000,000 plus cost of which was approved by area voters in late March.

J. James Fairbairn, of Shokan, in letters addressed to Dr. George Sullivan, superintendent of schools in the Ontario District, and Commissioner James Allen Jr., of the State Education Department, voices the opinion that the new addition will be a definite fire trap.

Fairbairn's letter to the two administrators, which cites two dangerous hazards in the proposed building program, follows:

The architectural design for the addition to the Ontario Central School at Boiceville is such that 26 school rooms have no provision to allow the children to escape from the building in case of fire. There are two enclosures designated as Courts, one 220 feet by 130 feet adjacent to 16 classrooms. The smaller Court measures 150 feet by 90 feet adjacent to 6 classrooms. The large Court has three doorways leading from the court to a corridor in the main building. The smaller court likewise has one doorway to the building proper.

During the winter months each of these enclosed courts will be not only the receptacle for snow falls but also have deposited therein approximately 40 per cent of the snow drifting in from the roofs of the building surrounding them. A law has been passed (since several children in a Long Island school lost their lives), to provide every classroom with at least one window for escape in case the corridors are impassable on account of fire or smoke or other dangerous contamination. In the event of such a calamity at Boiceville, the pupils will have to wallow through ice and snow drifts, the accumulation of which there is no provision to prevent or eliminate. The winter accumulation of such, covering some 4,210 square feet is not likely to be minimized by any help from the sun in these areas. These are two dangerous hazards and should be immediately dealt with before it is too late.

Grant Will Aid Middletown UR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York State Department of Commerce has received a $39,264 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to help finance plans for the growth of the Middletown urban area.

The grant is to be supplemented by $49,634 in state and local funds, the agency said Thursday.

Rocky Names Judges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Supreme Court Justices Aron Steuer and Louis J. Capozzoli have been designated by Gov. Rockefeller to serve on the Appellate Division in the First Department, Manhattan and The Bronx.

Steuer and Capozzoli, both of Manhattan, were named Thursday. Steuer is to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Francis L. Valente, while Capozzoli's assignment to the higher court is temporary.

Both will be paid $3,000 annually in addition to their regular salaries of $37,000.

Goats to Cut Grass

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. (AP) — The City Council says "n-a-l" to paying $1,000 a year to mow the grass on city-owned land. Instead it will spend $20 for six goats to keep the grass closely trimmed.

Express Shock At Statements On Civil Rights

By JOHN WOODFIELD
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Leaders of Baltimore's Negro community expressed shocked surprise today at statements by a Baltimore attorney and long-time courtroom champion of Negro rights that he opposed "any further extension of civil rights" for Negroes.

The attorney, Leonard Kerpleman, said in a letter published by the Baltimore Evening Sun Wednesday that the riots in Los Angeles Watts area "disgusted me and sickened me as a human being."

He said he could not accept "the manner in which Negro leaders have drawn the Watts carnage to their bosoms and have declared it to be, not their shame, but their glory."

"Gentlemen of the Negro community, by expressing pride, complacency or satisfaction in the Watts riots, you have lost me," said Kerpleman, whose arguments before the Supreme Court in 1963 resulted in the banning of compulsory prayers in public schools.

Kerpleman joined the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in 1945 and has been a member of its legal assistance committee. He also has represented many civil rights demonstrators in court.

Termed Ridiculous
Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, president of the Maryland chapter of the NAACP, said Kerpleman "sound ridiculous."

"No one in his right mind hugs bloodshed and killing to one's bosom whether it is in Watts or in Viet Nam. Watts was a rebellion against long-standing oppressive conditions which have not been corrected. The Watts potential is in every ghetto across this nation, where human beings are segregated and discriminated against, unwanted, unloved and alienated from the mainstream of American life."

Airs Water Projects
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The federal government is spending about $92 million for nearly 500 water projects in the nation, says an official of Department of the Interior.

Roland R. Renne, director of the agency's Office of Water Research, discussed the programs Thursday night at a Syracuse University-sponsored environmental health seminar. The money, he said, is being

Fourth Jubilee Council Masses Here on Sunday

The fourth of the Post-Council Jubilee Masses will be celebrated Sunday by the Catholic parishes of Ulster County at the three centers designated for the jubilee: St. Joseph's, Kingston at 3 p. m.; St. Catherine Laboure, Lake Katrine at 5 p. m.; St. James, Milton at 4:30 p. m. Pope Paul VI declared this jubilee at the close of Vatican II Council last December in order to bring work of the council to all people throughout the world.

At St. Joseph's, Kingston, the celebrant of the Mass will be the Rev. John B. Gorman, MS, pastor of St. Francis de Sales, Phoenicia. The speaker will continue to be the Rev. Eugene McAlee, CSSR, professor of New Testament at Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary at Esopus.

The Rt. Rev. Austin V. Carey, pastor of St. John's, West Hurley, will be the celebrant and the speaker at St. Catherine Laboure, Lake Katrine. At St. James's, Milton, the Rev. Joseph DiLuna, assistant pastor of St. Augustan, Highland, will be the celebrant and Rt. Rev. Msgr. John R. Simmons, pastor of St. Mary's, Marlboro, will be the speaker.

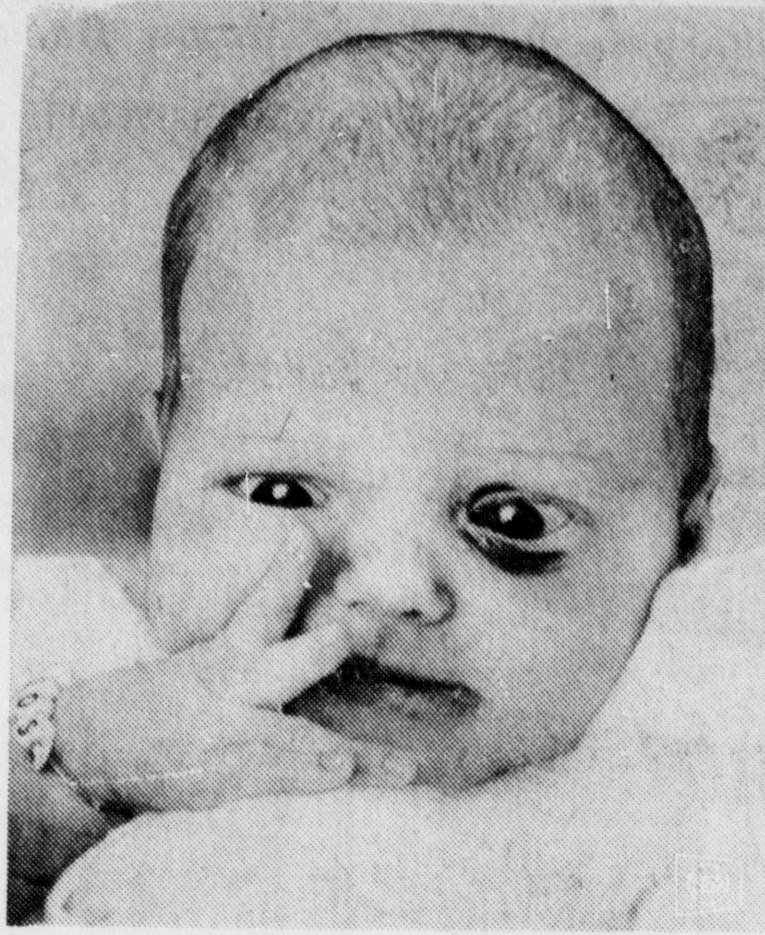

Documents of Council
Wherever throughout the world the post-council jubilee Masses are celebrated, Father McAlee said the talks were to be centered on the documents of the Council. He said that his talks this Sunday would attempt to further understanding of the "Paschal Mystery" contained in "The Decree on the Liturgy." Particularly he would consider the re-enactment of Christ's saving actions, the Mass. In the Mass by the separate consecration of the bread and wine, the death of the Lord is renewed in an unbloody manner, and Jesus risen from the dead becomes really present under the appearances of bread and wine. St. Paul expressed it: "As often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the death of the Lord, until he comes" (1 Cor 11:26).

Father McAlee said another common notion in the conciliar decrees, besides "Paschal Mystery," is "covenant." In the Old Testament this meant that God had made a treaty with His people, whereby He would be their God and they would be His people. In those days a covenant, or treaty, was ratified by spilling the blood of a victim. That is why, on Mount Sinai, Moses took the blood of a lamb and sprinkled it on the people. Whenever this action was repeated in later days, it meant that the Israelites were making this wonderful event present in their midst over and over again.

In the present day, Father McAlee continued, God and man have entered into a new treaty by means of the sacrificial death of Christ, and this new covenant is ratified in His blood. When Our Lord gave the disciples the cup to drink at the last supper, He said: "This is my blood of the new covenant, which is being shed for many" Mk 14:24.

All Christians have become children of the new covenant by means of their baptism. This covenant is renewed in our midst in many ways, but especially and most frequently in the celebration of the Mass.

Cute Blonde Tyke Recovers Heart Surgery at Home

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — The cute little brown-eyed blonde ran up to the ice cream wagon. "I'm Judy Lynn Funsch — and I've had heart surgery," she exclaimed.

The ice cream man was so impressed he gave the 5-year-old tyke an iceflavored cone and a bag of popcorn both for the price of one.

Tiny Judy, who underwent a rare and dangerous five-hour operation at the University of Michigan Hospital, has been home for a month now. She still is under doctor's orders not to play with the neighborhood children until she gains strength.

When that will be is still a question. Although Judy occasionally plans on the backyard swing and goes for rides in the family car, she tires easily. Her weight remains about 28 pounds.

"She's not eating well," said Judy's mother, Mrs. Clarence Funsch. "I'll prepare anything she asks for, but after a couple of nibbles she loses her appetite."

Judy's father says, "I'll feel better about Judy after she's had some followup tests at the hospital. She looks kinda pale,

Says 1,700 Negroes Handled Improperly

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — The Justice Department has charged that nearly 1,700 Negro voters were disqualified improperly in Tuesday's Democratic primary to assure a victory for Sheriff James G. Clark, in Dallas County.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court at Mobile Thursday, the federal government asks that Clark's opponent, Wilson Baker, be declared the winner.

Baker, the city's public safety director, is a racial moderate while Clark is known for his segregationist views.

The government suit seeks to overturn the action of the county's Democratic Election Committee, which supports Clark's contention that ballots in six of the county's 80 voting precincts were handled improperly. It asks for a preliminary injunction to prevent the disputed ballots from being destroyed.

but there's a sparkle in her eyes that wasn't there before."

The big event Judy looks forward to each day is the mailman's visit. Usually, it means more letters and packages to add to the more than 2,000 that well-wishers have sent.

Rocky Suggests N.Y. Join U.S. on Autos, Traffic

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller suggests that New York State and the federal government join hands in developing a safety automobile and a set of nation-wide traffic regulations.

In a letter to U.S. Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor Thursday, the governor asked for federal aid to help finance the safety car and outlined 33 safety ideas to be implemented nationally.

Connor has initiated a program to establish national regulations for roads, law-enforcement, drivers and motor vehicles.

Rockefeller told the secretary that the state already has committed $400,000 to the safety-car project and suggested that the federal government participate in its development to avoid duplication.

Included in the governor's recommendations were: —A uniform traffic - violation ticket.

—A uniform driver-identification card.

Standardized accident report and record systems.

While the governor made his letter public, the State Motor Vehicle Department reported that accidental deaths in the state rose 7.6 per cent in the first quarter of 1966 over a corresponding period a year ago.

From January through March, the report said, 554 persons were killed on the state's highways, compared with 315 during the same three months last year.

Girl, 7, Is Killed On Way to Hospital

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—Nancy Polkinkowski, 7, was injured fatally Thursday when an automobile in which she was riding and another collided, as she was enroute to a hospital.

The girl's father, David A. Polkinkowski, 25, of Honeoye, told Ontario County sheriff's deputies she was struck by a baseball during a neighborhood game near her home.

Polkinkowski's car rolled over twice after the accident on a rural road about 16 miles north of here, deputies said.

Dr. Charles Bathrick, an Ontario County coroner, said she died of a broken neck.

The family lives at 303 East Lake Road.

Approximately one-third of all traffic accidents in the United States occur on weekends.

Prescription Is Tempered With Word of Warning

TRENTON (AP) — The government moved today to cure one of the major headaches in developing the recreation area surrounding the Delaware water gap.

Governors of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware were informed a federal grant would pick up most of the tab for a $430,000 study aimed at preventing pollution of water supplies when the sprawling recreation area is completed on the upper Delaware River.

But the prescription was tempered by a warning that the price tag for pollution remedies in the lower sections of the four-state basin could run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Must Expand Curbs
Gov. Charles L. Terry Jr., new chairman of the Commission, said pollution curbs must be expanded.

Pollution and land speculation have caused great concern in planning for the 37-mile-long artificial lake that will rise on the Tocks Island Dam on the upper Delaware River.

The park is expected to attract an estimated 11 million visitors a year.

Officials fear the heavy influx of tourists could overtax the present facilities for disposing wastes.

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall outlined the proposed study at the annual meeting of the Delaware River Basin Commission, an agency in which the four states and federal government are partners. The commission has jurisdiction over the proposed park.

Udall said the study is designed to devise methods for stemming pollution, tying it to a regional planning concept and cementing it in the commission's master plan for developing the basin.

Govs. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey pledged assistance of planners, research and health officials to the proposed pollution study of the recreation project.

The commission will organize water and planning experts into three task groups — to project population and land use through the year 2020; to determine the resulting water supply needs and to plan for disposal of wastes produced by the anticipated economic and population growth of the region.

Federal agencies will also join in the study, including the Army Corps of Engineers. State and local contributions would be in the form of personnel rather than outright cash.

Although Delaware is a partner in the commission it is not contributing to the pollution study because of its geographical remoteness from a six-county area in which the study will concentrate.

The counties in the study are Orange in New York; Sussex and Warren in New Jersey and Northampton, Pike and Monroe in Pennsylvania.

Battle Shaping

recognition would be withdrawn and its privileges, including dues check-off, would be lost.

In addition, the government employer would have to seek an injunction to halt the strike and union officers who refused to stop the walkout could be held in criminal contempt.

The bill would limit the present limit of $250 a day in fines that could be assessed against union leaders judged in contempt.

The rival Democratic plan contains no such mandatory penalties against the unions.

Both measures include provisions that would substitute the discretionary power of the Civil Service law for possible punishment of employees.

This would permit employees found guilty of misconduct to be subject to disciplinary action ranging from reprimand to dismissal.

Quell Glasco Fire

Fire of undetermined origin heavily damaged a residence on Flatbush Road, Glasco, Thursday afternoon, as firemen from four companies battled the flames with water pumped from tankers. The nine-room house is owned by Joseph Matthews. It was reported the fire is believed to have started above the kitchen ceiling and flames spread through the upper part of the house and the roof. Glasco volunteers were dispatched to the scene at about 2:30 p. m. and the recall was 5:30 p. m. Tankers from East Kingston, Mt. Marion, Ruby and Ulster Hose Co. 5 were sent to assist through Mutual Aid.

Kindness Pays Off Man Left $250,000

NEW YORK (AP) — An elevator operator who showed "kindness, friendship and loyalty" to an elderly Manhattan woman is more than $250,000 richer today, according to a will filed for probate.

Ella Veronica King, who died last March 24 at 85, left the bulk of her estimated $300,000 estate to Christopher T. Kenny, of Teaneck, N.J., who operated the elevator in the building in which she lived.

Kenny said he was stunned at the news, but didn't think there would be a major change in his way of living.

Heart Finalizing Plans for Granit Dinner May 19

The Ulster County Heart Association is busily working on final plans for the annual dinner meeting to be held at the Granit Hotel, Kerhonkson, Thursday, May 19.

As formerly announced, the speaker will be Dr. Gordon K. Moe, director of the Masonic Medical Research Laboratory, Utica. Dr. Moe's talk will be on heart research.

Since 1949 Heart Fund has provided $110,000,000 for research, making it the largest non-governmental source of support for cardiovascular studies in the world. New techniques for diagnosing cardiovascular diseases have been perfected. Heart scientists have developed a heart-lung machine to take over the body's breathing and circulation during heart surgery. Artificial pacemakers have been successfully implanted in human beings to restore regular heart beats. New drugs have been developed to treat and control high blood pressure. Wide-range population studies have disclosed the correlation between high incidence of heart disease and such "risk factors" as dietary fats, blood cholesterol and cigarette smoking.

These research advancements and many more are being perfected by the army of doctors dedicated to heart research. Through this research there has been a 7½ decline in the death rate from cardiovascular diseases among middle-aged men in the United States, a heart spokesman said.

Twenty percent of the funds collected through the Heart Fund is used for medical research. Through increased research the underlying causes of heart disease will be in a position to attack them far more successfully on two fronts: prevention and cure.

Invitations have been sent to those active in Heart Association but guests are invited. "If you are interested in attending the annual dinner meeting, please contact the Ulster County Heart Association, 268 Fair Street, Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director, reports.

Appoint Police Commissioner In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Edward J. Bell was named today as police commissioner of Philadelphia.

Mayor James Tate said in announcing the appointment of the 43-year-old Bell, who has been acting commissioner since Feb. 15:

"We are confident that Commissioner Bell will continue to do the same impressive job he has done for the past three months in an acting capacity."

Bell was selected despite the recommendation for the job by an advisory committee of Bernard Garmire, police chief of Tucson, Ariz.

Tate said: "I'm selecting Bell over the single recommendation of my advisory committee, which had been asked to submit the best qualified candidates. We have taken into prime consideration the fact that he (Bell) has had nearly 20 years of big city experience with the problem unique to our metropolitan area."

"He has actually come through the trial by fire. There is no need for him to serve in internship on the local scene. Philadelphia cannot afford to negate this experience."

The expected announcement came two days after Tate interviewed Garmire.

Reports Guevara Talk

ROME (AP) — An Italian journalist interviewed long-missing Cuban guerrilla leader Ernesto Guevara two weeks ago in a Peruvian mountain hideout.

Paolo Senise, 42, correspondent for the weekly Le Ore, said Thursday the interview convinced him that Guevara was using his remote headquarters to direct guerrilla campaigns in Colombia and Peru.

Guevara, once second in command to Fidel Castro, disappeared from Cuba in March 1965.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to slide early this afternoon in heavy trading. General Motors, which triggered Thursday's shakeout, continued weak, making a succession of new lows.

Scattered issues rebounded throughout the list. Motorola, a 20-point loser Thursday, snapped back 5 points or so.

Volume was running ahead of Thursday, when the total topped 10 million shares as the list took its worst pounding since the Kennedy assassination Nov. 22, 1963.

The market was groping for support, brokers said, and had reached a level in the averages where chartists said it would either hold and rally, or break down and go considerably lower.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.01 at 895.76. This average had theoretical "support" around 89-895.

Red Cross Claims Hands Are Tied On Prisoner Aid

GENEVA (AP) — The International Red Cross committee told the United States today there is little it can do at present to protect American prisoners in the Viet Nam war.

In a 45-minute talk with Red Cross president Samuel Gonard, U.S. moving ambassador Averell Harriman was told the all-Swiss, neutral committee is helpless to overcome the political complications of the bloody conflict.

Informed sources said Gonard told Harriman that Communist North Viet Nam, a member of the Red Cross, refuses to cooperate on the grounds that American prisoners belong to the Viet Cong and are not its responsibility.

Harriman told newsmen latest figures indicate that there are 227 U.S. service personnel missing or detained in Viet Nam. Thirty-three of these are known to be prisoners, he said.

The Viet Cong guerrillas refuse to recognize the Geneva Conventions. Because of the refusal of North Viet Nam to take any responsibility for U.S. captives, the International Red Cross has thus far failed even to get a list of Americans held by the Communists.

Lindsay Rejects Bid For Easing Water Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — A request by Westchester County to ease restrictions on the use of water has been rejected by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

But the mayor arranged a meeting between Deputy Mayor Dr. Timothy Costello and Edwin G. Michaelian, Westchester county executive, to discuss water problems.

Michaelian asked Thursday that county residents, who receive 75 per cent of their water from the city, be permitted to water shrubs and trees.

Earlier, he had said that New York City officials "cannot unilaterally impose water restrictions on the county."

Lindsay announced last week that restrictions in the city would remain in effect although the reservoir supply is much higher this year than one year ago.

The water supply was reported nearly 80 per cent of capacity Thursday.

Saigon Is . . .

from another Republican, Thomas E. Dewey.

Dewey, the GOP presidential standard bearer in 1944 and 1948, said Fulbright "served the country very badly" by criticizing the administration's Viet Nam policies.

Fulbright has stressed what he sees as the danger of arrogance of power in his Johns Hopkins lectures and in other speeches. A week ago Fulbright declared that "America is showing some signs of that fatal presumption, that overextension of power and mission, which brought ruins to ancient Athens, to Napoleonic France and to Nazi Germany."

But Fulbright told his audience Thursday night, "I do not think for a moment that America, with its deeply rooted democratic traditions, is likely to embark upon a campaign to dominate the world in the manner of a Hitler or Napoleon."

Has Other Fears
"What I do fear is that it may be drifting into commitments which, though generous and benevolent in intent, are so universal as to exceed even America's great capabilities."

The concern that the nation may be overcommitted — economically as well as militarily — also has been raised by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, among others.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., turned Thursday toward the forthcoming elections in Viet Nam.

Ribicoff argued that an outside objective supervision was needed because with all the factions and fighting in Viet Nam, one group or another would challenge or reject results of an election run by the government. The Buddhists or the United States itself.

Thant Disputes Views
But U Thant, U.N. secretary-general, disputed Ribicoff's views and said he did not think it is "realistic for the moment" to send U.N. observers to oversee the elections in Viet Nam.

"Russia and many other powers would not agree to the United Nations entering the situation," Thant said in an airport interview in New York.

In another development Thursday, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon scored what he called the "peace at any price" policies of Johnson's Viet Nam pullout. He said a would be buying peace for the moment but in effect we would be buying a larger war in the future."

Withdrawal from Viet Nam, Nixon told a Boys' Clubs of America convention in New York, would be "rewarding aggression and whetting the appetites of Communist China."

Expect Samuels Will Announce Candidacy

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrialist Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua is expected to announce his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next Tuesday.

Sources familiar with Samuels' plans said Thursday he will make the formal announcement at a luncheon for Democratic state legislators in Albany.

Samuels will launch his campaign with a two-day schedule of meetings during which he will visit Washington and Rochester, the sources said.

Nassau County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson is the only Democrat to formally announce his candidacy.

Others, besides Samuels, who are expected to enter the race are New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., head of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is seeking re-election for a third term.

Widow Needing Income
Asks Advice on Stock

Q) "I am a widow, 65-years-old, and my only source of income is Social Security and 96 shares of Sears, Roebuck. I have been getting along by selling some shares of Sears. With the market as it has been recently, I did not want to sell Sears and have been borrowing from my sister. I don't want to make a habit of this procedure. If Sears stock goes higher, should I sell and put the proceeds in the bank at 4½ per cent interest, so that I will not again be dependent on the stock market?" —W.J.

A) It is always distressing for me to encounter a good person like yourself, who is in difficult circumstances through no fault of her own. I like Sears, Roebuck, but in your straitened position, the stock appears to be too rich for you, selling to yield less than two per cent.

I believe you should sell Sears when and if it reaches 60 and put $3,000 of the proceeds into a straight life annuity and $2,700 into savings. The combination would increase your income by about $10 a month and leave you safe from the vagaries of the market.

Q) "I have low-coupon, long-term Treasuries. If I sell at present, I would take a big loss. Should I switch into Federal National Mortgage Association 5.30s due 5/10/1967?" —L.C.

A) There are no indications that money will soon ease and I would consider it reasonable to sell long-term treasuries that carry low coupon rates—1½ or 2½ per cent. Although the yield to maturity on these bonds is good, the current return is low and they are fully subject to Federal income taxes.

Fanny Mae obligations are well secured and your suggested switch would certainly improve your income, short term. You might also consider Series E savings bonds, now yielding 4.15 per cent—on which Federal income tax can be deferred until maturity or redemption.

Rocky Foresees Greater Needs for Elderly Citizens

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today the increasing number of elderly citizens makes it imperative for the state to "build further on its pioneering efforts in establishing programs and providing services for the aging."

In remarks prepared for the opening of the fifth annual governor's conference on aging, Rockefeller also said that new developments in such programs are occurring at all levels of government.

Legislation Pending
He said legislation some pending, some already passed by the legislature — would enable New Yorkers to take full advantage of new federal programs and "offer new and additional varieties of state assistance to local programs — public and private."

About 1,500 persons concerned with the elderly were invited to the day-long conference at the New York Hilton Hotel.

The governor said passage of bills to implement the federal Older Americans Act of 1965 appears imminent in the legislature.

The pending legislation designates the office for the aging "as the single agency to submit a state plan of programs for the aging to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare — and to supervise the administration of the plan in this state," he said.

Note Provisions
It further provides that the office for the aging may operate the programs for the aging directly or "by contract with local political subdivisions or non-profit organizations."

Where the programs are operated under contract, the legislation provides that "the state will pay 50 per cent of the non-federal share of the program cost," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller was scheduled to name Arthur Hays Sulzberger, 74, chairman of the board of the New York Times, as recipient of the first annual governor's award to the senior citizen of the year.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Methodist Church Will Recognize Mothers by Age

Saugerties Methodist Church, Washington Avenue, has announced that special recognition will be given to the youngest and oldest mother attending each morning worship service. Sunday services will be held at 8:45 and 11 a. m., with the sermon by the Rev. Samuel MacCormac, substituting for the Rev. Joseph H. Rainear, who is ill. Child care is provided for infants and toddlers and a second session is held for children in the three to eight age group. Church School meets at 9:45 a. m. with classes for all ages.

Other activities Sunday include Youth Choir rehearsal at 5 p. m.; Senior High Youth Fellowship at 6 p. m., with reports slated from the four young people who recently attended a youth weekend program in Boston; Junior Youth Fellowship, 6 p. m.

The Men's Club will hold a covered dish supper Monday with the Rev. Oglesby as guest speaker. He will show slides and talk on Viet Nam.

Tuesday, Official Board meets, 7:30 p. m.

Friday, Sub-District farewell dinner for the Rev. and Mrs. George Werner at Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock; annual conference and laymen's retreat at Pawling, with seven laymen representing the Saugerties Methodist Church.

Announcement has also been made that Children's Day will be observed Sunday, May 15, at 9:30 a. m. Theme of the program will be, Be My Disciples, and there will be no early service that day.

Reformed Church Notes Mother's Day Observance

Both 9:45 a. m. and 11 a. m. services at Reformed Church of Saugerties Sunday will be in keeping with the observance of Mother's Day. Sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, is entitled, Faith as a Family Achievement.

Singing a special selection for the day will be the combined junior and senior choirs at 11 a. m. service. Youth choir will sing at early service.

Sunday church school will meet in the chapel on John Street at 9:45 a. m. under the direction of superintendent Kenneth Kennedy.

Youth fellowship meets in the parish hall, 7 p. m. Sunday with Gary Wolven in charge of the program.

Meeting at their usual times during the week will be Junior Girl Scouts, Brownies, boys working for their God and Country Award, Confirmation Class, Junior Choir, Youth Choir and Senior Choir.

Churches of the Saugerties area are cooperating in a clothing drive for Church World Services during May. Clothing will be used in this country and needy places of the world. Items of clothing needed include suits, trousers, overalls, dresses, skirts, robes, blankets, stockings, underwear, mufflers, caps, work shoes, infant's wear, sweaters and cloth remnants. All clothing should be brought to the Reformed Church and placed in the parish hall any time this month. A truck will pick up the clothing in early June.

Abolish Blue Law
AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Officials at the University of Massachusetts have agreed to abolish a campus "blue law" which hasirked students for years.

Beginning with the next term, student curfews will be out. The curfews varied with classes, but generally were 11 p. m. weekend days, 1 a. m. Saturday night and midnight on Sunday.

Thanks Garden Club for Work

The Saugerties Village Board has released a letter from Mayor Cornelius M. Cox to Mrs. Morris Rosenblum, treasurer of the Society of Little Gardens, thanking the Society for help in clearing the Thornton property and planting flowers there.

Parks and Playgrounds Commissioner Richard J. Underhill had asked that such a letter be sent to the organization at this week's board meeting.

Underhill and Trustee Gregory A. Mulstey had previously met with Mrs. Rosenblum and her group to clear brush and weeds from the property owned by George Thornton on Partition Street, on which the village has an easement. The garden club planted flowers in the lot and, upon its request, two benches will be installed there by the village to furnish resting places for local residents.

The letter from Mayor Cox follows:

"On behalf of the members of the Village Board of Trustees, I want to thank the members of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens for the cooperation given our 'Clean-up' Committee. We know that the flowers you have planted at the lot on Partition Street and the other plans you have for various sections of the village will certainly enhance the appearance of our village.

"We sincerely appreciate the help you have given us."

Meet With Students

Trustees also learned at this week's meeting that Mulstey met recently with a group of seventh grade students locally to discuss water pollution in the village as part of a class project. Also attending the session was George Gardner, sewer plant operator, who answered questions for the pupils.

Mulstey said he had been asked by the Saugerties Rotary Club to offer its assistance to the board in the event summer swimming facilities are to be expanded here. He also said he will make an attempt to proceed with the planned inspection of village properties until such time as the contemplated ordinance on abandoned vehicles is enacted. A public hearing on this ordinance is scheduled prior to the May 23 meeting of the board. Buildings Commissioner Arthur D. York told members new shades have been purchased for the office of Village Clerk James V. Gage that the police station has been painted and a new light ordered for installation outside the station to identify the building.

Jaycees Offer Help

Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele reported on a recent meeting with Saugerties Jaycees to discuss new state requirements for traffic control devices. Jaycees hope to be of assistance to the village on this matter; will further discuss what aid they can furnish.

Steele also urged all local residents to attend the State Traffic Safety Council's instruction session May 17 at Saugerties High School Auditorium. He also noted that he and Mayor Cox will attend the next meeting of the Village Planning Board to discuss several ideas.

In other business, the board noted that work is being done to clean dugouts at the Little League field and painting is underway at the Lions playground. Permission was granted to the Little League allowing the farm system to use the property on the field as a second baseball diamond.

Street Commissioner Maurice L. Clements called attention to the fact that the clean-up drive by his department is over and asked local residents to refrain from placing rubbish and trash on the sidewalks or in the gutters near their home, as such refuse will no longer be picked up by department trucks.

Slate Ascension Day at Lutheran Church, May 19

Atonement Lutheran Church, Market Street, Saugerties, holds services at 8 and 11 a. m., with nursery care at 11 a. m. at the parish home. Sunday School is at 9:15 a. m.

Wednesdays 1:50 p. m. confirmation classes meet for instruction; 7 p. m. Boy Scout Troop 32 at the parish house; 8 p. m. Senior Choir meets for rehearsal.

Friday 6:45 p. m. Junior Choir rehearsal.

Sunday marks the Festival of the Christian Family with the sermon stressing the ideals of Christian Family Life.

Tuesday, May 10, at 7:30 p. m. the church council will hold its monthly meeting. Decisions will be made on a delegate and alternate for the Lutheran Synod of New York Convention at Syracuse, May 31 through June 3. Each congregation is represented by the pastor and a lay delegate. The names of 16 members of the senior confirmation class will be presented to the council to be approved for membership in confirmation at Pentecost, May 29. The class has completed two years of instruction in Luther's Catechism, Bible study, read a book and written essays on the life of Luther and have participated in a youth choir.

May 15 will be observed as Lutheran World Action Sunday at Atonement together with some 6,000 congregations of the Lutheran Church in America. Attention will be called to the work of Lutheran World Action being carried on in 17 countries of greatest need. A special offering for this work is received at Atonement Lutheran Church each year.

Thursday, May 19, Ascension Day at 7:30 p. m. will be observed by a service of worship. The common service of the Lutheran Church will be conducted by the pastor and the senior choir will sing. Pupils of the first and second year confirmation classes will recite portions of the catechisms and questions relative to the faith. An award will be presented to the pupil who has written the best essay on the life of Martin Luther. Awards will also be given for best attendance at Sunday school and church for each class.

Can you Count on Oil for Heating "Comfort Value?"

"Yes, SIR-R-E-E!"
say 76 Top Builders...

Quality builders know what you want in a house. Value. Extra value features, like ceramic tile baths, wood paneled family rooms, acoustical ceilings. And they install the unmistakable extra "Comfort-Value" of oil heat because they know oil heat is the overwhelming choice of wise homeowners throughout the Hudson Valley.

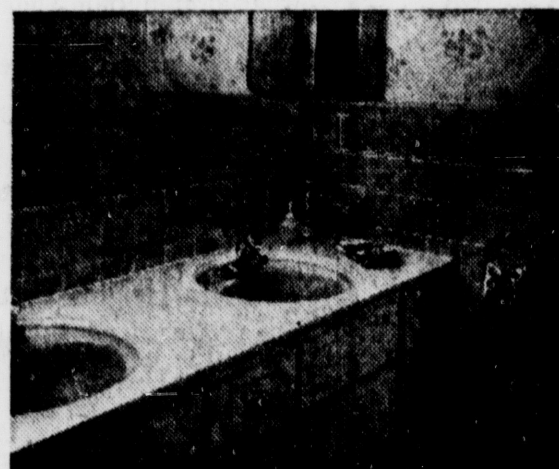

SAFE, UNIFORM WARMTH—

No fuel is safer than sunshine-clean oil heat. No matter how low the mercury drops next winter, you can depend on even, healthful warmth with oil—unmatched for "Comfort-Value." You'll enjoy your home more while you live in it, and with oil heat, it'll be worth more if you ever sell it.

EXTRA CONCERN FOR QUALITY—

"We use oil heat in all our homes because oil is much more economical than any other fuel," say representative builders. "And when you consider the extra savings on domestic hot water, the margin is even greater." Oil heats water three times faster than other fuels. Quality and low fuel cost... isn't that the combination you want in your new home?

3,000 Face GE Layoffs Upstate

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—More than 3,000 General Motors Corp. employees in Western New York face temporary layoffs as a result of the company's decision to cut back production.

About 700 of the 9,200 employed at the Chevrolet Division in nearby Tonawanda already have been affected by the reduction. They did not work Thursday and were told not to report today.

Those laid off at Tonawanda, all on the Corvair-engine assembly line, are scheduled to work only three days next week, a company spokesman said.

The company said "a few hundred" workmen were ordered not to report today at the Harrison Radiator Division plants in Buffalo and Lockport. A union official said 7,200 were involved and that they also would be given Friday off.

A company spokesman said the shutdown at the two Harrison plants, which employ about 8,000, were ordered "to balance inventories."

A four-day work week is scheduled next week for 2,500 of the 4,300 workers at GM's Delco Products Division at Rochester. The company said the men would be idled next Friday.

Harold C. Troidl, area director for the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers, which represents GM production workers, said the union's contract with the company provides supplemental unemployment benefits for eligible UAW members in event of layoffs.

He said the agreement calls for payments in addition to reg-

Burns Hopes Forums Will Narrow Field

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The state Democratic chairman hopes a series of forums featuring aspirants for the party's nomination for governor will help narrow the field by late summer.

Chairman John J. Burns predicted Thursday that the party would avoid a "blood bath" in picking the candidate at the Democratic nominating convention here Sept. 7 and 8.

He said he hoped from the forums to "get a broad-based consensus. It won't be a case of one or two people picking a candidate," Burns said.

Convention delegates elected in the June 28 primary would be invited to attend the forums, which begin May 14 at Cornell University in Ithaca.

Burns was in Buffalo to inspect the city's Memorial Auditorium, which will be the 1966 nominating convention site.

Miniatures

Certain paintings are called miniatures because, originally, they were painted with minium, which is native cinnabar or red lead. The paint, not the size, was responsible for the name.

Degree Candidate

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.—Miss Maida T. Townsend of Route 9-G, Rhinebeck, is a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree as a member of the Class of 1966 at Skidmore College.

Degrees will be awarded at the 55th annual commencement exercises June 5. Candidates number 284. The Sunday morning exercises will be preceded by traditional events and social occasions marking the commencement weekend.

Miss Townsend is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Townsend. She has been a member of the Freshman Chorus, College Chorus and Skidmore Ensemble. She has received honors for her scholastic achievements 1962 through 1966. She is a member of Periclean, the Skidmore honor society, and is treasurer this year.

Delegates Named To Junior League Annual Conference

Mrs. George A. Beck, president of the Junior League of Kingston and Mrs. James C. Embree, recording secretary, will represent the League at the 44th Annual Conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America. It will be held at the Hotel Americana in Bal Harbour, Fla., May 8 through May 12.

"What can I do?" is a familiar question in any free society. It expresses, as well as any words can, the citizen's desire to contribute to the welfare of his community, as well as his perplexity about how to make this contribution. More than 500 young women will seek new answers to this old question. The delegates will be representing 92,600 members of 211 Junior Leagues all over the United States (including Hawaii), Canada and Mexico. A highlight of the four-day meeting will be the formal dinner on Monday evening, May 9. Arthur H. "Red" Motley, president and publisher of Parade Publications, Inc., and former president and chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker. His subject: "Voluntary Activity is a Privilege of Free People."

To-day, as ever, the Junior Leagues are seeking new means of meeting community needs in a fast-shifting, ever-changing society. Looking towards tomorrow, the Leagues plot their courses by asking questions: What can the individual do to help? What role can the private citizen-volunteer play in tomorrow's community? What new techniques are needed for volunteer training and programs? These are the important basic questions to be asked at the AJLA Conference.

Physical and human aspects of the community of tomorrow will be explored in two panel sessions on Tuesday morning, May 10. Future needs for urban improvement will be the focal point of the panel entitled "The City." Participants will be Dr. Walter H. Ehlers, professor at the School of Social Work, Florida State University; Hunter Moss, chairman of the Central City Council of Urban Land Institute; and Margaret Carroll Sanford, consultant to city planners.

This year's AJLA Conference will be the largest ever. As the Association's major assembly of the year, it provides not only the opportunity for meeting and exchanging ideas—it is also an occasion to reaffirm the basic principle of all Junior Leagues—to prepare young women for responsible citizenship and leadership by educating them to provide trained volunteer service to the community.

UCCC Professor Earns Publication of Works

A member of the faculty of Ulster County Community College has had two articles accepted for publication in the Cornell Veterinarian, according to an announcement today by college officials.

He is Richard B. Glazer, an associate professor of Biology. One of the articles was published last year, and the second is due to be published in a coming issue. Both articles indicate that environment can influence features of a group of organisms.

Professor Glazer, who lives in Canaan Road, New Paltz, is married and the father of three children. He formerly taught at Orange County Community College and the State University College at New Paltz.

A Boston native, he received his bachelor's degree from Colorado State University and his master's degree from Pennsylvania State University. He is working on his Ph.D. degree at Cornell University.

The professor, coordinator of all biology programs at Ulster County Community College, recently received a National Science Foundation Award, and will participate in a Summer Institute in Desert Biology at Arizona State University, June 20-July 30. He has been active in scouting and other community affairs.

Kingston Hospital Adds Pair to Faculty

Miss Rosemary Pelligrino, director of Nursing at the Kingston Hospital, announce the appointment of two new members to the faculty of the School of Nursing.

They are Mrs. Vincent (Florence) Anderson, R.N., M.A. and Miss Wendy Latteri, R.N., B.S.

A graduate of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in New York City, Mrs. Anderson served at that hospital as assistant head nurse, clinical instructor and supervisor. She earned her bachelor of science and master of arts degrees at Teachers College, Columbia University. She served as nurse-in-charge and instructor of a teaching unit sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for patients suffering from poliomyelitis.

Mrs. Anderson also served as supervisor of Pediatric Nursing at New York Hospital, and assistant professor at Cornell University. New York Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband is priest-in-charge of the Church of Christ the King in Rondout Valley. They reside at Stone Ridge.

Miss Latteri, a resident of Ellenville, is a 1964 graduate of the State University College at Plattsburgh.

She holds a bachelor of science degree in education with a minor in School-Nursing. She worked at the New York Hospital, and Cornell Medical Center in Pediatrics for two years before coming to the Kingston Hospital.

Miss Latteri received a Child's Bureau Scholarship last summer to study Nursing in Mental Retardation at the University of California at San Francisco. (Freeman photos by Kruh)

Altar-Rosary Society Of St. Mary's Meets, Plans Luncheon 15th

Final plans for the Annual Communion Luncheon of St.

Mary's Altar-Rosary Society of Kingston, scheduled Sunday, May 15, were discussed at the Society's regular monthly meeting this week in the school hall.

Mrs. Frank Casciaro, luncheon chairman, has set Monday, May 9 as the deadline for making reservations. Tickets are available from Mrs. Casciaro, Miss Dorothy Fitz Gerald, Mrs. Angelina Carputo and Mrs. Vincent McDonough. All women of the parish and their friends are invited to attend.

At the conclusion of the Society's business meeting, Edward Devine, president of the Holy Name Society of St. Catherine Labourer Church, Lake Katrine, gave a talk on the Catholic Day Camp sponsored by that church off the Old King's Highway between Lake Katrine and Mount Marion. Devine explained the facilities available at the camp and the activities being planned for the current season. Altar-Rosary members of St. Mary's who may be interested in the camp program were asked to contact Mrs. Dorothy Fitz Gerald, Society president.

Local Hadassah Drive Nearing Completion; Labeled Successful

The annual J.N.F. Drive or Blue Box Drive of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah is coming to a most successful completion, according to Mrs. Irving Meyer and Mrs. Fred Strauss, co-chairmen of the drive.

Funds collected in this endeavor are used to reclaim land in Israel. Much of this land has laid idle for thousands of years but due to the efforts of Hadassah women and other interested Zionist groups, these areas not only bloom again but provide homesites and employment for Jews from the entire world.

At a recent Hadassah meeting, cochairmen Meyer and Strauss thanked the workers who so diligently enabled Hadassah to participate in this effort. The workers included the Meses. Sam Barnovitz, Frank Cohen, Max Eckdich, Louis Ellenbogen, Arthur Field, Herbert Gertner, Saul Goldfarb, Nathaniel Gross, Alfred Horowitz, Louis Kornfeld, Robert Kreines, David Kushner, Abe Lipgar, Morton Levine, Samuel Levine. Also working were the Meses. Stanley London, Milton Paige, Max Pasternack, Herbert Powell, Harold Pinkus, Ephraim Propp, Harry Simon, Abraham Streifer, and Irving Wilpan.

Workers who have not yet turned in their reports are requested to contact Mrs. Herbert Gertner and any member who was not contacted but wishes to make a contribution, may call Mrs. Gertner for pick up.

Styles-Foster Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Alan M. Styles of 127 W. O'Reilly Street announce the recent marriage of their daughter Ruth, to Charles Foster, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lester Foster of Saco, Maine.

The ceremony was performed on April 9 by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Old Dutch Church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Styles of Woodstock, N. Y.

A Lunette Party followed the meeting with Mrs. Gertrude Ferguson acting as demonstrator. In other business, it was announced that the Rev. Edwin Coon has extended an invitation to Society members to visit the Fair Street Reformed Church at 7 p. m., Sunday, June 5, for a discussion session, followed by refreshments.

Mrs. Janet Ausanin was in charge of refreshments served at the Society meeting, assisted by members of her committee.

Mary Louise Green Weds Gerard Ryan

Miss Mary Louise Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Green Sr., of 19 West Union Street, Kingston, exchanged marriage vows with Gerard Ryan, son of Mrs. Dorothea Ryan of Queens Village, N. Y., and the late Francis J. Ryan, on Saturday, April 23, 1966 at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edward L. Farrelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's. Pink gladioli and white pompons decorated the church for the occasion. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of bridal lace styled with tapered sleeves, scalloped neckline and A-line skirt. A detachable lace train was edged with taffeta. A queen's crown of pearls held a silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with ivy centered with a corsage of white roses.

Brenda Green of 19 West Union Street, Kingston, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor in a full length gown of yellow chiffon. A crown of tulle leaves held a circular veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of orchid gladioli with matching streamers.

Elizabeth Peters of Queens Village, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mary Jeney of Kingston served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor except in colors of pink and nile green. They carried cascade bouquets of gladioli.

Mary Hofbauer, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl in a gown identical to that worn by the honor attendant. She carried a princess basket of white daisies.

William Dunn Jr., of Queens Village was best man. Ushers were William Hofbauer of Boston, Mass., uncle of the bride, and Charles Dunn of Hollis, N. Y. Mark Bell, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception was given for approximately 100 guests in Guido's Restaurant, East Chester Street by-pass.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and was employed by Trailways Bus Corporation in Kingston prior to her marriage. Her husband is a graduate of Our Savior Lutheran High School, Bronx, and is employed by Photo Circuits Corp., Glen Cove, L. I.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ryan return from a wedding trip to Canada, they will reside in Queens Village, N. Y.

BULGE VS. BIKINI?
BETTER TAKE NO CHANCE
This is the prize-winning letter chosen this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post, has been sent to the questioner.

Dear Mrs. Post: At what age should women stop wearing bikinis? I say that longer suits look old-fashioned; my husband says they're more flattering to women my age.—M.B.

Dear M.B.: You're making a common mistake: sticking to a particular style because it's "in" regardless of how it looks on you. A more covered-up bathing suit may be a little old-fashioned, but that won't date you half as much as a broad display of middle-aged spread!

There is only one restriction: that the wearer have an excellent figure, and this implies that she be youthful. A young, reasonably slender girl has every reason to show off as much of her figure as society allows, and wins nothing but admiration. But one chubby teen looks just as ridiculous bulging out of a bikini as the middle-aged matron.

There are not many limits as to where or when bikinis can be worn. It's a matter of common sense. If the swimming party is at a private pool or a club where there may be older people who are offended by bikinis (I sometimes wonder if there isn't a touch of envy there?) or (b) there may be regulations against them, it's safer to leave the bikini home and cover up a little more. At any public beach or swimming area, or any place where the rules and the preferences of the other swimmers are well known, bikinis are great, if, I repeat, the figure is good enough.

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorcee are described in the booklet entitled, "Second Marriage." If you would like a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Agudas Achim Lunch Slated for June 9 by Local Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim held its board meeting at the home of Mrs. Morris Berman, 43 Wurts Street, this city, recently. Among those attending were the Meses. Herman Schneider, Jacob Blinder, Bessie Ellenbogen, Morris Berman, Burt Ellis, Ben Werbalowsky, Murray Brandenburg, Aaron Klein, Harold Rappaport, Ray Levine, Rose Kunst, Joel Pollack, Sam Barnowitz, Nathan Katatsky, Stella Suskind and Miss Gertie Reber.

Plans were made for the annual donor luncheon to be held at Grossingers on June 9. In charge of reservations are Mrs. Jacob Blinder, Mrs. Sam Barnowitz and Mrs. Burt Ellis.

It was announced a barbecue will be held Saturday, June 18, at Vineyard Lodge in Ulster Park.

A regular meeting of the Sisterhood is scheduled for May 11. Mothers' Day will be observed with a special program. Refreshments will be served by hostesses Mrs. Alex Gersh, in honor of the birth of her grandchild, and Mrs. Ben Werbalowsky, in honor of her 50th wedding anniversary.

The next meeting of the board of directors will be held on May 31 at the home of Mrs. Aaron Klein, 60 West Chestnut Street at 12:30.

Mendelssohn Concert Features Area Artist

MRS. MARGARET D. ROOSA

Margaret Danford Roosa, prominent area vocalist and a member of the music faculty of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, will be presented by the Mendelssohn Club as annual guest artist at the group's traditional Annual Concert Tuesday, May 10 in Kingston High School.

"We are particularly pleased that the talents of this fine artist who is active here in our own area, will be a featured part of our Club's male choral program," Edward L. Sprute, Club president noted.

Mrs. Roosa graduated from the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts, also singing as contra to soloist with the University's Choral Society and the University Chorus.

She also sang the contralto solos in the Bach B Minor Mass and the St. John Passion with the University Chapel Choir.

Mrs. Roosa studied voice with the late H. Wellington Smith, himself an European-trained vocalist on the Boston University faculty, and with Leonard Stine of Kingston.

Mrs. Roosa sang under the direction of Charles Munch doing the contralto solos in a program of Bach Cantatas at an Albert Schweitzer Benefit Concert. She had the distinction also of singing as soloist in the Premier Performance of Hugo Kauder's "Chamber Music for Soprano, Alto and Tenor" at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She also frequently has been soloist with the Lexington Choral Society, Lexington, Massachusetts. Locally, she has been guest soloist at Ulster County Community College, and with the Onteora Summer Chorus Concert.

Mrs. Roosa is vocal teacher on the music faculty of Kingston High School. She is the wife of William A. Roosa, resides at 140 Elmendorf Street, Kingston.

They have two children, Margaret Ann and Allen.

All music lovers are invited to procure their complimentary tickets for this outstanding traditional Annual Mendelssohn Concert. Tickets are available from any Mendelssohn Club member, or by phoning Club president Edward L. Sprute at FE 1-8115.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

FUTURE OF FARMING

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 6 — Over the past quarter-century, we have been watching closely the revolutionary changes that have taken place on the nation's farms. Machines have been replacing men at an explosive rate, and now U. S. agriculture is a huge, modern industry. It is, in fact, our largest industry, providing income of $14 billion in 1965, a boost of $1 billion over 1964. We think this farm-income growth is going to continue.

Fewer, Bigger — And Richer
While the small, general-purpose farms have been fading out, the streamlined type of modern family operation has been moving triumphantly ahead. Naturally, this kind of farming takes plenty of outlay for mechanization, and far greater technical skill. But, where the management is competent and well informed, the profits more than make up for the costs of machinery and the study required to develop more advanced technical know-how.

Over the past five years, net income per farm has pushed upward 40 per cent to a new all-time height of $4,150. Perhaps even more significant is the fact that, in the same period, per capita income of farmers has advanced 35 per cent while income for the remainder of the population has risen only 20 per cent. Farm labor costs have, of course, been drifting downward for years because of agricultural mechanization, and acreage has been climbing steadily for the individual farms. These latter trends are bound to continue.

Strong Supports

There have been many related reasons for the healthier demand for agricultural products and for rising profits. The most elementary but important cause is the enormously broader spending for foods of all sorts, due to large increases in population, soaring spendable income, and richer eating habits. Exports of farm produce have been on the upward path for a long while. Markets have been particularly well sustained in the countries of Western Europe, in Japan, and in many other free nations. Higher living standards in such places favor continuing brisk demand for our agricultural exports for an indefinite period.

As long as our own people are adequately supplied with native foodstuffs, there will continue to be heavy shipments to needy nations that lack sufficient growing operations of their own. This entire export situation, along with the government's cutting back of our planting acreage over the years and our own booming markets, has succeeded in bringing surpluses down to manageable levels. Since over-supplies always mean downward pressure on prices, present conditions are more conducive to good returns for farmers. Income per farm will of course, be steadily greater as the number of farms dwindles and the greater prosperity is divided among fewer establishments.

Harvests Could Be Greatly Increased

In spite of the phasing out of great numbers of marginal farms, the strong nucleus of larger units that are left could dramatically step up agricultural production. Total harvests during 1965 smashed all previous records. Experts feel that even these highs could be upped some 20 per cent in a couple of years if federal acreage controls were done away with. Some interested parties are suggesting that 55 million idle crop acres be replanted, especially in view of the number of countries where starvation actually threatens.

What would be the effect of sudden removal of acreage restrictions? Prices would tend to fall unless demand could be kept in line with output. Since world markets are a strong part of the success-key for American farmers, exports would have to be maintained — and even increased — if price softening were to be prevented. However, we feel that — under present conditions and with this dire world need — there may be dangers of shortages, at least in some grains and other basic farm products. Certainly, if underdeveloped customer countries on a wide scale could be brought up to the economic level of Canada or Japan, our farmers could whistle a happy tune for a long time.

Dear Abby . . .

Hour of Truth Approaches

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I did a terrible thing. I told my boyfriend my parents were dead and I was living with my aunt. You see, we live in a dump in a poor neighborhood, and I was ashamed to have him see my house, so I've been having him pick me up at my girl friend's house. Not only that, but I was ashamed to introduce him to my parents because they're foreigners and don't speak English very well.

He's getting serious, Abby, and I don't know what to do. If I tell him the truth now, he'll never believe another word I say. And he probably won't ever want to see me again. I love him very much, and I'm all torn up inside about what I've done. How can I make things right without losing him?

TORN UP

DEAR TORN UP: Tell him the truth and accept the consequences. If he forgives you, consider yourself lucky and vow never to lie again. And don't ever be ashamed of your parents because they're "foreigners." We all have our roots in a foreign country. Unless we happen to be American Indians, that is.

DEAR ABBY: Recently we introduced our very good friends to these people I'll call the "Joneses." Our very good friends invited the Joneses and us out to dinner. The Joneses ordered the best of everything and more than they could eat. I was so shocked and ashamed. Abby, my mother taught me never to eat too much at somebody else's house, and not to order the most expensive meal at somebody else's expense. I wish you would put some rules down for people like the Joneses. They sure need it. Not only that, but my husband had to tell the Joneses to thank our friends for the nice dinner.

ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: If it was a spur-of-the-moment dinner party, and the Joneses were included only because they were with you, you owe your "very good friends" an apology. But if your friends merely met the Joneses through you, and sought to entertain them, you needn't feel ashamed. Circumstances sometimes require introducing acquaintances to friends, but an introduction isn't necessarily a recommendation.

DEAR ABBY: My Bob wrote to you a few weeks ago. I saw the letter in the pocket of his coat. I can only guess what he wrote, but I think I know. He has been after me to make our "marriage" legal. He cannot know the nightmares I have had. Perhaps if I tell you about my former marriages, you will understand why I can't marry Bob: Husband number one (a lieutenant in the Air Force) and I were married 6 months and 18 days when he was killed in a car accident. I was 19. Husband number two (a sergeant in the Army) and I were married 3 months and 23 days, when he was killed in a hunting accident. I was 23.

Husband number three (a construction engineer) and I were married only 55 days when he died in a fire. I was 27. Bob and I have been together for three years, and he is still in one piece and we are very happy. I have buried three husbands in eight years, and I am taking no chances of adding Bob to that list. He says he is not afraid, but to tell you the truth I am.

BOB'S COMMON-LAW WIFE

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T GO ON" IN DEL MAR: YOU CAN go on. And you MUST. "Anyone can carry his burden, however hard, until nightfall. Anyone can do his work, however hard, for one day. Anyone can live sweetly, patiently lovingly, purely, 'til the sun goes down. And this is all that life really means."

Reveals $102,000 Oswego Bill for 4-Day Blizzard

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—A four-day blizzard last winter that buried this Lake Ontario city under 104-inches of snow rang up a $102,000 bill.

Mayor Ralph Shapiro, who released that figure Thursday, said it did not include business losses, lost wages or damage to private property.

Each home - owner, he said, would pay an average $7.50 and commercial property owners $22 to offset the bill.

The biggest expenditure, he said, was $70,727 for the rental of 62 pieces of snow - removal equipment from 35 private contractors.

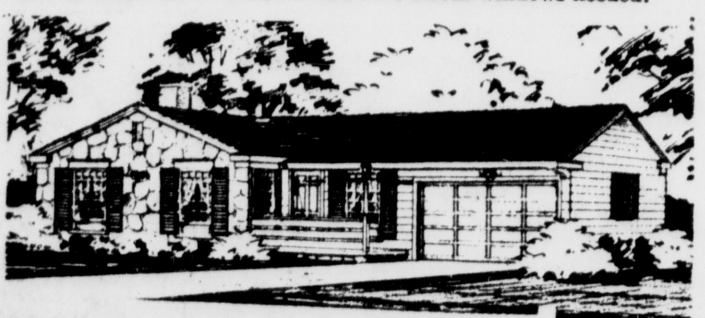

Other expenses were:
—Labor, $15,871.
—Food and lodging, $3,994.
—Fuel, $3,097.

The storm, which covered most of Upstate New York with lesser amounts of snow, began on Jan. 30 and paralyzed this city of 22,000.

Asks for 5,000 Petitioners for Name at Primary

Hamilton Fish Jr., asked for 5,000 petitioners to have his name entered on the primary Republican ballot Tuesday, June 28, Primary Election Day, at the Town of Rochester Republican Club meeting at the Accord Grange on Tuesday. Petition forms were distributed among the attendance of 60 with instructions to use given names, only middle initials and no ditto marks.

Fish is in a primary race against Alexander Aldrich of Columbia County. The winner of the June 28 contest will run against the Democratic incumbent, Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellettsville for the 28th Congressional District.

"Republican candidates can not and should not expect victories without intensive campaigns," Fish told the group. He blamed the last Republican defeat on the campaigning weaknesses of the previous candidate. He promised vigorous handshaking campaign if he won the race. While he felt that the final issues could not shape up until after the primary was over, he felt that the issues with Resnick centered around inflation spending and the Resnick tendency to believe in regulatory powers to correct existing faults.

Fish was introduced by Philip Davis of Kerhonkson, founder of the club. Prominent Republicans in attendance were Supervisor Franklin Kelder, Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray, Marletown Superintendent of Highways Jesse Williams and Robert Diamond, founder of the Marletown Republican Club.

Until 1918, passports for foreign travel were required only in time of war.

ROCHESTER MEETING—Hamilton Fish Jr., speaker at the Town of Rochester Republican Club, is shown with Phil Davis, Republican Town Chairman, and Romeo Muller, president of the Town of Rochester Republican Club. Fish, a candidate for the Republican Congressional nomination, spoke before an estimated 60 club members. Muller is acting as chairman for Fish for Congress volunteers in the Town of Rochester.

Staples Elected Grand Lodge Head

Frank C. Staples of Floral Park was unanimously elected grandmaster of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of New York during the 185th annual communication of the Grand Lodge in New York City Thursday.

Staples was elected for one year during the three-day session at Masonic Temple, 71 West 23rd Street, New York.

Staples is a member of India House, New York City, and past president of the Garden City Country Club on Long Island. He is a member of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange; past president of the Sugar Club; past president and director of the Sugar Association, Inc., an international organization with a world-wide membership; treasurer of Sugar Research Foundation, and treasurer of the U. S. Cane Sugar Refiners Association.

He is a trustee of the Roosevelt Savings Bank of Brooklyn, and a trustee of the Nutrition Foundation. His wife and he are active members of the Community Church of Garden City. He is the father of two married daughters, with seven grandchildren.

From 1945 until November 1959 he served Grand Lodge as a member of the Committee on Masonic Benevolence and for nine years was chairman of this committee. In November 1959, he was elected a trustee of the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund. He is a member of the Scottish Rite Consistory in the Valley of Long Island, and was nominated a 33 degree Mason at the September convention in Detroit.

Immediately following his installation on Thursday afternoon, he appointed Max Rauch of Brooklyn, senior grand deacon and William R. Punt of Floral Park, grand marshal.

Van Bramer Quits Resnick's Staff, Leaving June 15

Glenn C. Van Bramer resigned today as Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's legislative assistant. Van Bramer has been employed by Rep. Resnick since he took office in January, 1965.

Van Bramer is the designated Democratic-Liberal candidate for the New York State Constitutional Convention.

"I do not feel it would be ethical for me to remain on the Federal payroll," Van Bramer said, "and, at the same time, be a candidate for public office. Although it is not legally necessary for me to resign, I feel it is the right thing to do."

Congressman Resnick said, "I accept Mr. Van Bramer's resignation with genuine regret. As a key member of my staff, he has proven himself a hard worker who has a deep interest in public service. The Constitutional Convention will make next year an historic one for New York State. I am certain that Mr. Van Bramer's dedication to the public interest will serve this area well."

Van Bramer said that he plans to campaign for the constitutional convention extensively in two ways. "First," he said, "it is the responsibility of all designated candidates to put politics aside for a while and work together to convince the voters of the tremendous and lasting importance of this Convention."

"Then, we can explain why we feel our views and qualifications are those best suited to represent this area at the Convention."

Van Bramer's resignation will be effective as of June 15.

To Shift Operations

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Rubber Reclaiming Co. plans to move its operations in suburban Cheektowaga to another facility owned by the company in Vicksburg, Miss.

The company reported Thursday a net loss of $27,101 for the first quarter of 1966. A spokesman attributed the loss to heavy expenditures in improving the Vicksburg plant.

About 50 production and 60 office, laboratory and sales personnel would be affected by the plant closing here.

Nearly 4 Million Eligible Under Home Loan Bill

Many Ulster County servicemen have recently become eligible for liberal home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration under a new law whose terms have received relatively little attention, Peter Weider, president of the Ulster County Board of Realtors, said today.

He was referring to the new GI bill which was signed into law last month and which, among other points, makes eligible for VA home loan guaranty between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 post-Korean veterans.

1976 Deadline

The new law provides that veterans with more than 180 days of active military duty who were discharged from the service after January 31, 1955, have at least until May 3, 1976, to complete a GI loan.

Realtors, professionals in real estate who subscribe to a strict code of ethics as members of the local board of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, have homes listed which may be purchased with the new liberal terms and are prepared to help veterans in their housing search, he added.

For a post-Korean veteran or serviceman, VA may guarantee a home loan made by a private lender up to $7,500 or 60 per cent of the loan, whichever is less, Weider said. This means that a lending institution will receive government's guaranty which is intended to be in lieu of a down payment or to reduce the down payment which the lender normally requires.

Loans are not limited to the purchase of homes but may be approved also for alterations, repairs, or improvements in homes already owned and occupied, Mr. Weider said.

No Maximum

There is no maximum amount of a guaranteed loan, Weider said, and he added that all loans made or guaranteed by VA bear interest at 5 1/2 per cent.

Although the new GI bill offers many of the benefits the previous bill made available to World War II and Korean War veterans, there are some benefits which it does not include, for example, business loans are not authorized for individuals who qualify under the new GI bill.

VA direct home loans will be available for the purchase of homes in areas where such loans have been authorized, Weider said, and commented that the maximum direct loan ceiling has been raised from $15,000 to $17,500.

Veterans with the required length of service and who were discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable may apply for VA loans. If released because of a service-connected disability, the service time may be less than the stipulated 180-plus days period.

An individual veteran can determine how long he has to take advantage of the bill by adding 10 years to the date of his discharge from active service, plus one year for each three-month period of that service, Weider said there is a maximum eligibility date of 20 years after discharge from the qualifying active service, and that veterans discharged because of service-connected disabilities will have the maximum 20-year entitlement.

VA does not require a down payment, Weider said, but cautioned that lenders may require them.

Anyone seeking additional information or requesting certification of eligibility should contact any VA regions I office.

Ulster Town GOP Finalizes Plans For Dance May 14

Town of Ulster Republican Club this week finalized plans for the fifth annual spring dance slated at Guido's Restaurant (formerly Ang-els) on the East Chester Street by-pass Saturday, May 14.

General Chairman Salvatore J. Castiglione, reports that the demand for tickets has been exceptionally brisk. This event will feature the "Three Sharps" for dancing, according to ticket chairman, Mrs. Frank Rittie. A buffet supper will be served.

Continues to Berate Viet Policy

Fullbright Not Discouraged By White House Cook, Barry

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Americans consider the Vietnamese a little confused, with their anti-one another scuffling in the midst of war, some of the Court Turns Down Appeal by Powell About Defamation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Court of Appeals has upheld an agreement made in 1896 that provides the Binghamton school system telephone service at half-rate from the New York Telephone Co.

That decision by the state's highest court Thursday was a rejection of the company's appeal from an Appellate Division ruling in favor of the city school district and its board of education.

No Opinion

In another decision, the court rejected, without opinion, an appeal by U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell and his wife in a defamation - of - character suit against the congressman.

In 1896, the New York and Pennsylvania Telephone and Telegraph Co. agreed to provide service at half-rate to city "departments" in return for the right to install communications equipment under Binghamton streets. The New York-Pennsylvania was the predecessor of today's company.

The agreement provided that such service would be given to the board of education and the schools.

In 1953, the company said it was going to discontinue the practice. The company contended that in 1951, when the city school district assumed the function of levying taxes, the district and the board no longer could be considered as "departments."

The court held, however, that they did constitute "departments" as defined in the original agreement. The decision was by a vote of 6-0. Francis J. Bergen, the seventh judge, did not take part.

The Powell case was another in a series that began more than three years ago when the congressman was found guilty of having defamed Mrs. Esther James, a 68-year-old Harlem widow.

Evades Most Payments

A Supreme Court jury awarded her $211,500 which later was cut to $46,500. Powell allegedly has evaded payment of most of that amount.

Powell sought to appeal a lower court decision that he and his wife had transferred property in Puerto Rico to avoid having it attached to pay the defamation judgment. A State Supreme Court justice ruled that Powell had fraudulently transferred the property to one of his wife's relatives. The decision was upheld by the Appellate Division.

Last December, a State Supreme Court justice levied a $375,000 judgment against the Powells in a suit brought by Mrs. James in connection with the property transfer.

things going on here must look a little mixed up to the Vietnamese.

For months they've heard President Johnson's Viet Nam policy scolded in and out of Congress, with no one more than Sen. J. W. Fulbright doing the berating.

Starchy LBJ Silent

This Arkansas Democrat is chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee and "arrogant" has become one of his favorite words to describe U.S. foreign policy.

Through it all, Johnson has maintained a starchy silence, more or less, never tangling head-on with Fulbright although this week at a White House reception he tried to be humorous indirectly.

He did it not with a speech but with a note which, he said, his cook wrote. Fulbright and his wife were there and Johnson told Fulbright:

If there's any arrogance of power in the White House it's in the kitchen. He pulled a penciled note out of his pocket, the one he said was written by his cook, Zephyr Wright.

The cook told her boss, Johnson, that she was going to be his boss for a while and ordered him to take off weight by eating the food she put in front of him.

This didn't discourage Fulbright, as he proved Thursday night in another attack. But, meanwhile, Johnson suddenly found a sturdy supporter against Fulbright in Barry Goldwater, whom Johnson defeated for the presidency in 1964.

Bids Senator Resign

Goldwater in a very blunt speech Thursday demanded that Fulbright resign as his committee's chairman. No American, Goldwater said, has the right to call the United States "immoral, imperialistic and arrogant."

This was turning the tables on Fulbright who, after the Republicans won control of Congress in the 1946 elections, suggested President Harry S. Truman follow the British parliamentary system and resign so a Republican could take over. Truman ignored Fulbright's advice then, just as Fulbright most surely will ignore Goldwater's now.

Saigon 'American Brothel'
But, having tried to massacre Fulbright, Goldwater then tried to take the skin off Johnson from a dozen different directions which ranged from criticizing his handling of the Vietnamese war to criticizing his handling of problems at home.

Paying no attention to the take-charge cook in the White House or to Goldwater, either, Fulbright was at it again Thursday night in a 19-page speech in which he said the Vietnamese capital of Saigon has become an American brothel.

He said it was the result of the "fatal impact" of the "rich and the strong on the poor and the weak."

Doubting the ability of a strong nation to create stability in a small and chaotic Asian one, Fulbright resorted to a Chinese proverb to make his point: "In shallow waters dragons become the sport of the shrimps."

Then he outlined a policy of conciliation toward Red China but never got around to explaining what should be done if the Chinese ignore such efforts and insist on a Communist world.

Says TV Viewers 'Spoiled Rotten'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Americans today are exposed in one year to more good comedy, superior writing, more vaudeville routines than another generation saw in a lifetime," said producer George Schlatter.

"Audiences know when a show is slow, whether it is derivative, if it is a spoof or a put-on. Think of the people who have seen the Bolshoi Ballet, experienced opera, have their choice every night of comedy or drama.

Passionate Defender

"Think of the numbers of hours of entertainment, education, culture and comedy available. I say that even 15 years ago nobody could conceive of an industry that could turn out this enormous quantity of material — and do it easily and, generally speaking, well."

Schlatter, who has had a hand in developing many a variety series, including a couple that failed to fulfill their promise, is a passionate defender of television.

"I say that the television audiences are spoiled rotten," he said.

The free-lance producer recently taped an NBC special saluting winners of Grammy Awards, given by the record business' Academy. It will be broadcast May 16, with singing stars repeating award-winning performances and other celebrities introducing them.

This is a one-shot program of a very special nature — a program planned around preselected personalities and well-known music.

"The day of the pure 'personality special' seems to me to be running out," Schlatter said, "and I think we will have to come back to a special program that, in itself and conception, is the best event."

Schlatter may be prejudiced, having been involved with two programs, both starring personalities, that failed to pan out. He was the original producer of the Judy Garland series, and this season he was involved with the short-lived "Steve Lawrence Show."

"The Lawrence show failed because he was, in a sense, a new performer who needed time to develop as himself, as a personality," said Schlatter. "A guy may have been around for some time, doing a variety of things, but when he comes on as himself, it takes time before the audiences begin to feel that they know them."

Expect Reports On Federal Aid For Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first official evaluation of the government's big push to enrich the education of some 7 million slum children is on President Johnson's desk and may be released this weekend.

The report is by a special advisory council named by the President to keep tabs on the billion-dollar program. The 12-member council is composed largely of top ranking education experts from outside the government, but include a labor leader and others.

Forsee Endorsement

Sources in the U.S. Office of Education, which administers the program for disadvantaged children, said they expect the report to generally endorse what has been done since it got under way last fall. This is what has been done:

Nearly 18,500 individual projects in every state have been approved. Price tag: $927,334,821. In addition, 3,480 more projects still are being processed and if approved will bring the total cost to more than $1 billion. The cutoff date for submitting the projects to the Office of Education was last Monday.

The projects are initiated by local educational agencies under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, by far the biggest part of the broad-ranging act.

All projects must be approved by state education authorities before they are submitted to Washington. They include a wide range of ideas — preschool programs, summer camps, field trips, guidance and counseling, psychological help — all aimed at helping disadvantaged children get over the educational hurdles imposed by their slum environments, both city and rural.

To Detour Traffic On Abeel Section

Police were notified today that starting Monday at 7 a. m. traffic on a section of Abeel Street will be detoured. The street is being widened near the railroad bridge.

Detour on the east side will start at Hudson Street and on the west at Wilbur Avenue and Dunn Street. It will continue to 4 p. m. after which one lane will be open until work is advanced sufficiently to permit travel over the full width of the street.

Pentagon Junk

Aid Reclaims Services Gear; Goes to Others

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shunned as junk by the Pentagon, discarded military equipment has been repaired and put to work around the world by the U.S. foreign aid agency.

"It might have been junk when we got it," an official of the Agency for International Development (AID) said today, "but it wasn't junk when we supplied it to other countries."

Under Pentagon fire, a Senate subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures resumes today its public inquiry into the discard of used military equipment overseas.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, the chairman, contends the Defense Department is giving away used but serviceable equipment — like cranes, tractors and bulldozers — desperately needed by American forces in South Viet Nam.

The foreign aid agency reported it has obtained military equipment which cost the government $300 million, repaired it and put it into service. That account covers a six year period.

Joseph Lippman, the subcommittee's chief investigator, said the armed forces systematically inflate the estimated cost of repairing used equipment, then discard it as not worth the money.

Gruening said Tuesday that amounted to fraud.

The Pentagon replied that Gruening "apparently wants the American soldiers in Viet Nam to fight with junk." Its statement said Gruening's fraud charge was irresponsible.

AID has told Congress it is "beating swords into plowshares" by reclaiming the military gear.

Jeanne Retains Her Fresh Beauty

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In her film performances, Jeanne Crain has long presented a portrait of serenity. It is no illusion. Could there be any doubt that she is just as serene in real life? Not when you consider how she manages an acting career and a family of seven children, ranging from a colicite to a 10-month old.

How does she do it? "I have no system," she said. "The only way I operate is to take one thing at a time. I never worry about things until they happen."

Whatever her method, it seems to agree with her. She has reached the age when life is supposed to begin, yet she retains the fresh beauty she exhibited in "Marge," "Centennial Summer," "Letter to Three Wives," "Pinky" and other memorable films of her 20th Century-Fox career.

Now she has joined with another Fox graduate, Dana Andrews in a new film, "32 Miles to Terror." It is being made at MGM as a two-hour movie for television, although it may be released in theaters first.

"It feels good to be working again," she said in her dressing room. "This is the first picture I've done since I had Christopher. He was our afterthought." Christopher last year joined the family which already included: Paul Jr., 19 and a student at Loyola University (Los Angeles); Mike, 17; Tim, 15; Jeanne, 14; Betsy, 8; and Mia, 6. Father is Paul Brinkman.

Admittedly, the Brinkmans have it easier than most large families, since they employ a gem of a couple who have helped manage the household for 10 years.

"They've been with us since before the three youngest children were born," said Jeanne, "so they're really a part of the family. Also, the older children take care of the younger ones, and two of the boys can drive, so it's no problem for Paul and me to get away."

That can happen, since much of her film-making in recent years has been in Europe. Her last one was a German-Italian-Yugoslavian production.

Jeanne will be stationed here in the future, since she is embarking on her first television series next fall. She has been hand at any time but he did not like to let West play one no-trump doubled, so ran out into his only four-car suit.

West opened his king of clubs and South was even more unhappy when he saw the dummy. Then he proceeded to make the contract by a series of magnificent plays.

He won the first trick with dummy's ace of clubs and returned the suit. East won with the ten and promptly led back the three of trumps. South played low. West cashed his ace and king of trumps and got out with a diamond, won by dummy's ace.

South led dummy's queen of spades. West refused to take his king and a second spade was led from dummy. This time, South played his nine and West had to take his king. A second diamond went to dummy's king and South was able to get to his hand with the jack of spades, in order to lead and ruff his last club. This made six tricks. He had taken two spades, two diamonds and one club and one club ruff. He led dummy's ace of spades and East had no way to keep South from making two of the last three tricks.

Quite a series of plays by South. However, West must be given some credit for making the play possible. Had he opened his ace and king of trumps and then shifted to a low club, South would have had no way to keep East from getting in to lead a third trump and the contract could not have been made.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Death of a Salesman," CBS' two-hour adaptation of the Arthur Miller play, and "The Hill Country," Lyndon B. Johnson's Texas.

NBC's hour special with the President of the United States himself as tour guide, are the highlights of the next seven days of television viewing.

The Miller program, with Lee J. Cobb and Mildred Dunnock playing their original Broadway roles as Willie and Linda Loman, will be shown Sunday night (9-11 EDT).

The tour around the Peder-nales River country, including the LBJ Ranch was shot last November and will be seen Monday evening (10-11).

On Saturday night (9:30-10), a new game show, "The Face Is Familiar" will have its summer season debut replacing CBS' "The Loner."

"Batman," ABC's twice-a-week excursion into low camp, will repeat on Wednesday and Thursday nights the episodes originally shown in an interrupted fashion in mid-March when the emergency splashdown of the Gemini 8 astronauts took over the nation's screens.

Paltz Man Attends Parley on Aging

Norton Blue, owner-administrator of the New Paltz Nursing Home, New Paltz, is attending the Fifth Annual Governor's Conference on Aging being held at the New York Hilton Hotel in New York City.

Attendance at the all-day conference is by invitation of the Governor only. Blue is president of District Four of the New York State Nursing Home Association and vice-president for education of the Westchester Nursing Home Association.

The annual Governor's conference is attended by leaders in the field of aging from throughout New York State. Primary interest in this year's session involves bringing into clearer focus the implications of the coming of Medicare.

The morning session consists of an address by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and a speech by famed author and lecturer, Max Eastman.

During lunch, Mrs. Marcelle G. Levy, director of the New York State Office for the Aging extends greetings to the guests. Comedian Harry Hershfield, himself a senior citizen, is serving as master of ceremonies.

The afternoon session provides two alternate panel discussions to attend.

One, on Preparing for Medicare is chaired by Dr. Waring Willis, past president of the Medical Society of the State of New York, and features Dr. Hollis Ingraham, commissioner of the New York State Department of Health and George K. Wyman, commissioner of the New York State Department of Social Welfare as panelists.

The other, on Private Health Insurance and Medicare has J. Douglas Colman, president of Associated Hospital Service of N. Y., (Greater New York's Blu. Cross) and Raymond F. Kil-lion, vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as panelists, and William C. Gould, Assistant Superintendent of Insurance, New York State Department of Insurance, serving as chairman.

Ex-Patient Charged In Baby's Drowning

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A former mental patient was charged with first degree murder Wednesday after police found her 7-month-old baby drowned in the bathroom of her home.

Constance Lee Moore, 25, of Yonkers, was committed to Grasslands Hospital for psychiatric examination by Judge Gilbert M. Landy.

The woman, who was released March 24 from Harlem Valley State Hospital at Poughkeepsie, is charged with drowning the baby, Yolanda, in the toilet bowl of the second floor apartment.

Police rushed to the apartment after they reportedly received a call from the mother. "I just killed my baby," the woman allegedly said over the telephone.

The woman is reportedly separated from her husband, Kenneth, who is living in the Bronx.

One-Fourth of Mankind

For arts and manner of government I think no Kingdom in the world comparable to it. —Peter Mundy, first Englishman to visit China

Two and three centuries after Columbus, Europe finally began discovering China.

Distance lent enchantment, but so too did the many products merchants were bringing back—wallpaper, lacquered furniture, tea, objets-d'art and, especially, porcelain—"china." Chinese themes—"chinoiserie"—influenced Rococo architecture and gardens.

Reading the glowing accounts sent by the Jesuits, men like Voltaire and Leibnitz praised China's government as the best ever conceived, one in which philosophers, if they were not kings, were at least the king's officials. Rationalists saw in Confucianist China proof that morality needed no priests or dogmas.

While it lasted, Sinophilism provided a cultural and humanistic impetus in Europe. When it ended, it was replaced by growing contempt for the "heathen Chinese."

In the beginning, though, contempt was a monopoly of China. Unfortunately, the behavior of some of those who went there did little to dispel Chinese xenophobia.

The Portuguese had been granted a concession at Macao in 1557. They were followed in the next century by the rival Dutch and English. By the 18th century, the latter had attained a monopoly of the China trade. The first American ship arrived in 1784.

Unable to keep the "foreign devils" out entirely, the Chinese tried their time-honored tactic of playing one barbarian off against another. Trade was restricted to the port of Canton and all dealings had to be handled through the Co-hong, a monopolistic association of merchants, who occupied nearly the bottom of the Chinese social scale. Government officials all along the line extracted their "squeeze" from the profits.

In 1792, Britain sent Lord Macartney as head of its first diplomatic mission to China. After much dispute over the question of kowtowing—literally knocking one's head against the floor nine times before the emperor—he was permitted to present his request.

In his answer to George III, the Emperor Ch'ien Lung noted the king's "humble desire to partake of the benefits of our civilization" but informed him nevertheless that "our Celestial Empire possesses all things in prolific abundance . . . (We) have no need for your country's merchandise."

It was not a reply calculated to win friends and influence monarchs.

Viet Sage Says U.S. Must Take Peace Initiative

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Tran Van Huu, a premier of South Viet Nam in the days of Emperor Bao Dai, suggests that the first move toward peace there must come from the United States.

Huu, 70, has lived in Paris the last 11 years. Winding up a month's visit to the United States, he told an interviewer this week:

Call From Mightiest
"I am sure that if the Americans stopped the war, the others would too. The call to a truce can come only from the mightiest, the smallest cannot call for a truce. But if the mightiest called for a truce, the others would follow."

"They would have to accept because if they were to carry on the war, they wouldn't have the approval of the population. We have been running for peace for 25 years."

Huu said he spoke to Washington officials last week about a possible truce "but there hasn't been any echo."

"I have the impression that peace is not for tomorrow," he added wryly. "When we will have burned Viet Nam to ashes, there will not be any conflict."

Huu said hostilities should be stopped to prepare a climate for negotiations and the United States should negotiate with the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. "In a case as hard as this," he explained, "we must talk to the worst enemies."

But he said he found that while some in Washington wanted negotiations, they did not want to hear about North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh; and while they wanted peace in the South, they did not want to hear about the National Liberation Front.

He said he got the impression Washington did not favor having self-exiled Vietnamese like himself return for South Viet Nam's

Dewey Critical Of Fulbright On Viet Views

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey, a former governor of New York State, says Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark. has "served the country very badly" by criticizing the Johnson administration's policies in Viet Nam.

Dewey made that charge at a press conference here Thursday night.

Later, he addressed a $100-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner. He commented that the Republicans could do a better job in Viet Nam than the Democrats are doing.

projected national election. He commented: "This is extremely serious, because the majority of the elite is outside."

He said the self-exiled Vietnamese had been refused South Vietnamese visas so many times they had quit asking for them.

No Free Expression

Huu called the coming election "a kind of diversion" anyhow because in South Viet Nam "it is not possible for people today to express their will freely."

He remarked with a smile that he himself was responsible for Nguyen Cao Ky, South Viet Nam's present premier, because in 1951 he founded the military school that graduated Ky.

Huu was premier under Bao Dai from April 27, 1950, to June 3, 1952.

He contended in the interview that a coalition government should be formed in South Viet Nam including three groups that arose in 1955 in opposition to the authoritarian regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem — those that went abroad, those that became political prisoners, and those that went underground to form the Viet Cong.

Huu said the Viet Cong were not Communist in the beginning and were "not entirely" Communist now, though the U.S. bombing of the last year had "forced the Front to ally itself with the North."

Cab Driver Aid To Police Is Old News in Gotham

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Taxicab drivers in major American cities serve as a little-known, unpaid detective force on the alert against crime around the clock, a survey indicated today.

Spokesmen for taxicab companies expressed some surprise at a congressional resolution by Rep. Richard C. White, D-Tex., urging the enlistment of taxi drivers and dispatchers in the fight against lawbreakers.

O. W. Wilson, superintendent of the Chicago police department, said hundreds of drivers with radio-telephone equipment have taken part during the past two years in a campaign called "Operation Crime Stop."

The Chicago drivers report not only crimes but road accidents.

Maj. Forrest Garrison of the Kansas City, Mo., police staff services division said a program enlisted cabbies and truck drivers in anticrime activities has been in effect since 1964.

"It looks like the federal government is far behind as far as we are concerned," he said. He said he was sending Rep. White a letter outlining the Kansas City operation, which includes direct telephone links to advise taxicab, trucking and public utility companies of crime alerts.

"We've been helping the police right along," said Tom Rickard, secretary-treasurer of a Detroit cab company. "It works both ways — the police help us and we help them. If our drivers see anything suspicious they grab their radio mikes and report it."

Capt. Frank Dyson of the Dallas, Tex., police department said "some of our cases have stood up in court only because of a (taxi) driver's report and later testimony."

Rex Taylor, president of a cab company operating in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland, Calif., said:

"I don't see where we need a new law. Everything is fine as it is. Cab drivers are very cooperative in aiding police in the prevention of crime. It might help if we had a stronger law against holding up cab drivers."

Senior Righty Gives Two Hits To Port Jervis

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Brian Bach threw a masterful two-hitter and fanned 16 batters as Kingston High opened its 1966 DUSO baseball season with a 4-0 win over Port Jervis at windy Dietz Stadium.

While scouts from the Minnesota Twins, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox watched, Bach overcame some early control trouble and simply threw the ball past the Port Jervis batters.

The senior righthander surrendered an opposite field single to John Markiewicz in the second inning and an infield hit to Carmen Prisco in the sixth. He walked five batters but four of them came in the first three innings.

Double Play Ends Threat

Bach had only one trouble spot and it came in the third inning when he walked Bill Wharton and losing hurler Bill McCooey with one out. Shortstop Lou Perry then gobbled up a ground ball off the bat of Jim Launt and converted it into a doubleplay.

McCooey matched Bach pitch for pitch over the first four frames. However, his slow curves were met in the fifth and coach Mike Rizzo's swingers scored their four runs.

Freshman Greg Rios, playing only his second varsity game, singled to start the rally. Brother Gene lined a triple over the third base bag and into the corner in left field to break the scoreless deadlock.

Matt Weishaupt's grounder scored the second run and the way Bach was pitching, you could sense that's all he needed. However, he aided his cause with a long triple to deep left.

Pete Watzka reached base on a fielder's choice and Bach scored when the throw went by to second on the error and he tallied as Perry lined a single to center.

A Good Finish

Bach walked a batter in the first, gave up a hit and a walk in the second, passed a pair in the third and one in the fourth. He then retired eight in a row before giving up an infield hit in the sixth. He finished with a flourish, getting the last four batters, three of them on strikes.

The fireballing righty fanned the side in the first, fourth, fifth, and sixth innings and had at least two whiffs in every frame but the third.

Kingston has a pair of league games on tap next week. The locals visit Middletown Monday and host Newburgh Free Academy Tuesday.

Opener Slated For National LL

National Little League, Inc., of Kingston ushers in its 13th year of continuous operation with the traditional parade and ceremonies Saturday.

League members, teams, managers and coaches will assemble at 12:30 noon at Foxhall Avenue, near Broadway.

The parade starts at 1 p. m. and will be headed by Troop 12 Boy Scouts Indian Drum Corps, followed by Miss National League of 1966 in the person of Miss Debbie Slough and the Veterans of Foreign Wars color guard.

The line of march is down Broadway to Delaware Avenue, over Delaware to the VFW building where they will salute the Vets for their eighth year of team sponsorship. From there the parade goes to Shults Stadium-Kingman Park for the ceremonies.

The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger will give the invocation. Among those on the program are Alderman-at-Large Frank Koenig representing the city; Police Chief Murphy, Ed Palladino of The Freeman sports staff; City Judge Hubert Richter, District 16 LL representative, and Joseph Spada, a teacher in junior high and a former Little Leaguer and coach of the Tigers. Joe Kelly, retired Freeman city editor, will be the master of ceremonies.

Just Jamie Wins Inaugural Feature at Monticello Raceway

Opening Program Draws 6,132 and $325,282 Handle

Just Jamie, sent off the 6-5 favorite, captured the opening feature, The Inaugural Trot for a purse of $4,000, as Monticello Raceway opened its ninth season of racing Thursday night.

Clear, cool weather greeted the early birds and track officials were elated with the excellent turnout of 6,132, and handle of $325,282.

Administrative vice president Leon Greenberg noted that when Monticello opened on May 13 in 1965, with Roosevelt Raceway running, the opening night figures were $5,826 and $370,410.

"Tonight's turnout, with Yonkers much closer to us, is really thrilling to all of us," said Greenberg.

The thermometer held steady at 55 degrees on a fairly windy evening.

Among the spectators were Robert A. Glasser, chairman, and E. Ogden Bush of the State Harness Racing Commission.

"There's no doubt about the growth of the sport in this area," commented Greenberg. "When we started back in 1958, our largest attendance was 6,300 people on a Saturday in mid-summer. Our biggest handle that season was some $302,000.

Wins by Length

In the opening feature, Just Jamie, the five-year-old gelding driven by Buddy Gilmour beat Bobby Camper's Jes R Hoot by a length in a fast 2:04, last quarter in 29.4. The winner, as favorite, paid $4.60.

The honor of winning the first race went to Earl Cormier's Barbara Barmin for an $840 mutual. She combined with Bill Popfinger's Sweetie Hanover, 16.40, to make the 5-4 daily double worth $85.40.

Cormier also took the seventh with Skeet Dillon (8.20) for the first double.

The initial twin double on the 6-2 and 3-8 pairings returned $3,072.20 to nine ticketholders.

The horses were Success Top (Galbraith) 8.00 in the fifth, Santa Sal (Campbell) 6.60 in the sixth, Skeeter Dillon in the seventh and Royal Bridge (Sears) 21.80 in the eighth.

The initial perfecta on the ninth race returned a less exciting 14.60. The winner was Princess Blanche, the place horse Miracle Henry. The combination was 4-8.

Gilmour Welcomed

The well known Buddy Gilmour, persona non grata at the current Yonkers meetings for reasons never explained, was given a complete vote of confidence by Greenberg.

"He's welcome here anytime. He's one of the finest gentlemen I've met in the sport. His record here is phenomenal. His integrity so far as I am concerned, is beyond reproach."

Gramel, the 8-year-old Australian trotting mare under lease to Jean Malchin of New York, who has hopes of getting her invited to the Roosevelt International and other top events, trotted an exhibition mile after the fourth race. Now in Billy Haughton's stable, one of his aids, Ben Steall, piloted her through a 2:13.2 workout, last half in 1:04.

Giants Win, 5-4

Giants edged the Yankees, 5-4, in extra innings (9) after the Yankees scored a run in the bottom of the sixth to tie the score, 4-4.

Yankees outlived the winners, 13-7, but failed to bunch their hits. Danny Brown and Robert Johnson pitched for hte winners.

All MR Officers Are Re-Elected

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway held its annual shareholders meeting yesterday at the track with one of the largest gatherings ever in attendance. Biggest item on the agenda was the annual election.

Following the largest vote in track's history, all nine officers and 13 directors were re-elected.

Re-elected to another term were president and general manager Franklin E. Devlin; administrative vice president Leon Greenberg; vice presidents Paul Grossinger, Hyman Hoffer, Paul G. Killian, David Levinson and Julius Slutsky; treasurer Donald J. Hammond; and secretary Ben J. Slutsky, all officers of the corporation.

Directors re-elected were Sidney Sussman, the chairman; Milton Kutsher, chairman of the executive committee; Manual Bogner, Devlin, Jerome Ehrlich, Grossinger, Hammond, Killian, Levinson, Harold A. Reynolds, Manuel Rosenstock, Herbert Sakofsky and Ben Slutsky.

Even Dodos Rip Yanks

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Remember the days when the New York Yankees could always count on facing the opposition's best pitcher?

It's not happening now. Why waste an ace on a ninth place club?

The results showed up the Yank' weakened state. O'Donoghue managed only seven shut-out innings, and needed help from Bob Allen, but the Indians scored a 4-0 victory that left the one-fused Yankees with one run in three games against the Cleveland staff.

And Tebbetts didn't even use ace Sam McDowell in the three-game sweep.

The Yankees have been shut out four times in their last seven games and have managed just 17 runs over that span — 1 of them in one game against Kansas City. The team batting average has dwindled to .203.

In Thursday's only other American League game, California blanked Kansas City 1-0.

Triple for Whitfield

Dick Howser and Chuck Hinton, replacements for the injured Larry Brown and Leon Wagner, drove in the first two Indian runs after O'Donoghue and Bob Friend had dueled through six scoreless innings.

Howser's sacrifice fly scored Fred Whitfield, who had opened the seventh inning with a triple, one of four the Indians hit. Vic Davallio opened the eighth with a triple and Hinton's sacrifice fly brought him home. Duke Sims' second triple of the game added two insurance runs in the ninth.

Fred Newman and Bob Lee combined on a four-hitter and Norm Siebern drove in the game's only run as California handed Kansas City its 14 loss in 17 games.

Newman allowed all the Athletic hits in the first six innings before tiring and giving way to Lee.

Siebern delivered Paul Schaaf with a first inning single after Schaaf had walked and moved to second on a sacrifice. It was enough to beat Roland Sheldon, who had blanked New York 1-0 on a three-hitter in his last start.

Houston Classic Delayed by Rain

HOUSTON (AP) — The rain-delayed $117,000 Champions international Golf Tournament makes a second attempt to get under way today but the weatherman gave no promise of a change in the weather.

The forecast called for 95 per cent probability of more of the steady rain that washed out the first round Thursday.

PGA tournament supervisor Jack Tuthill ordered the postponement before any of the star-studded field had started play on the 7,118-yard, par 36-71 Cypress Creek layout of the swank Champions course.

Barring further delays the final round of the 72-hole tournament will be played Monday. If more than one-day delay is necessary, it is likely two rounds would be played on the final day to wind it up.

Short Stop Top Yonkers Horse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 6,000 fans turned out Thursday night for the opening of Monticello Raceway's ninth season of harness racing.

Just Jamie, the 6-5 favorite, captured the featured $4,000 Inaugural Trot, covering the mile in a fast 2:04. Just Jamie ($8.40), driven by Buddy Gilmour, was followed to the wire by Jes R Hoot and third place Pro Hanover, the early pace-setter.

The opening night crowd wagged $325,282.

Monticello's season is 117 nights and four afternoons of racing.

In feature races at other harness tracks in New York state:

YONKERS Short Stop ($10.40) captured the $12,500 Vol-luntary Handicap trot at Yonkers Raceway in 2:02 3-5. Style Setter was second in the mile event, followed by Intent Way.

Buffalo — Caccialupi ($9.40), an 8-year-old gelding, won the $1,300 mile conditioned pace in 2:07 4-5 by a nose over Margaret Herbert. King Nola was third in the mile race at Buffalo Raceway.

SARATOGA SPRINGS Dash Away ($4.60) posted his eighth straight victory by winning the $900 mile trot at Saratoga Raceway. The event was timed in 2:07 2-5. Cool Yankee was second and Little Victor finished third.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Johnny Brooks, 147½, Las Vegas, outpointed Frankie Belman, 147½, Los Angeles, 10.

Canadiens Grab Second Straight Stanley Playoff

DETROIT (AP)—For the first time in his life, Henri Richard knows exactly how his big brother felt when he scored six overtime goals in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

His brother, Maurice (The Rocket), remains five up on him but the goal Henri scored Thursday night has to be the biggest of his life. It gave the Montreal Canadiens an overtime 3-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings and a second straight Cup.

The Canadiens became only the second team in the 40-year modern history of the Cup to win it after dropping the first two games in the best-of-7 series. Montreal won four games in a row in gaining its 12th Cup championship.

Richard, bothered by a leg injury during the semifinals, did not score a goal in the playoffs until he put on the red light at the 2:20 mark of the overtime session.

"Dave Balon shot the puck across to me and someone grabbed my stick and the puck hit me and went in," Richard said.

Detroit goalie Roger Crozier, who was named the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs, had a different version of the game-winner.

"Richard was flat on the ice and he knocked the puck in with his glove," Crozier said. "I protested to referee Frank Udvari but he said the puck was in and that was that."

Leaders Intact In ABC Tournney

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — C&L Auto Supply of Gary, Ind., shot a 2,907 series to lead regular team division scoring in the 48th day of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The teams high series Thursday failed to put them among the leaders of the division. Thunderbird Inn of Plymouth, Mich., holds first place with 3,059.

Don Stevens of Phoenixville, Pa., turned in the best all events score of the day, 1,897. He had 628 in the team even, 667 in doubles and 592 in singles.

He paired with Bob Boyle for the day's best doubles score, 1,240.

Ivan Lutemski of Elmira, N.Y., led the singles scoring Thursday with 656.

METTACAHONT'S — The May meeting of the Mettacahonts Willing Workers will be held Wednesday 2 p. m. at the Mettacahonts Hall.

A card party sponsored by the Willing Workers will be held at the Mettacahonts Hall Thursday 8 p. m. There will be refreshments and awards.

Mrs. Nettie Vandermark entertained visitors from Kingston over the weekend.

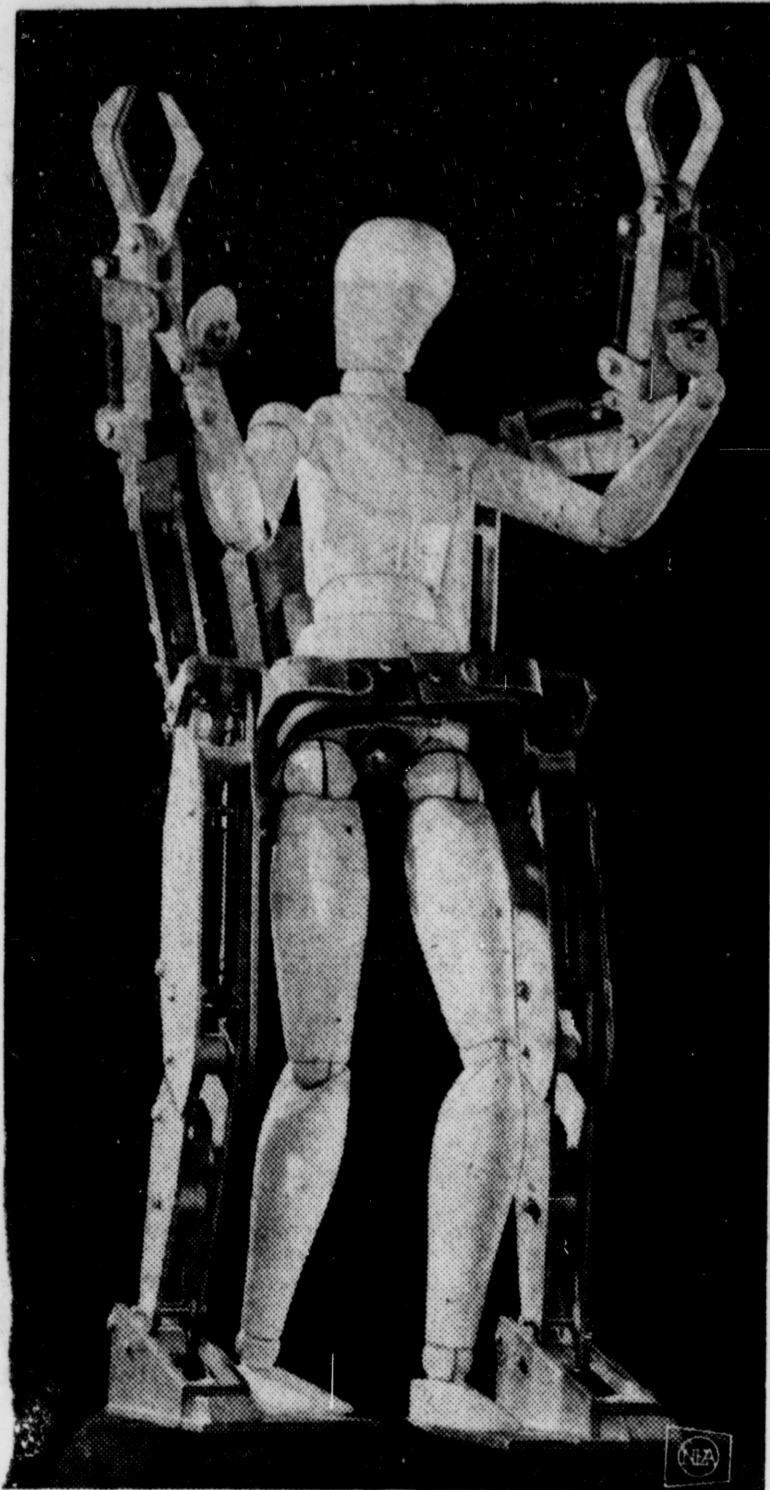

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gates and son were visitors at the home of their brother, Edward Gates and family at Long Island over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rauch were recent visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Rauch.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rider are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at Kingston Hospital.

ANSWERING THE CALL—Eyes front, shoulders back, he answers the call—the school bell. Books strapped on his back, Prince Hiro, six-year-old son of Japan's Crown Prince Akhito, marches off to class.

MECHANICAL MUSCLEMAN—This set of mechanical muscles is designed to make a strong man out of even a 97-pound weakling. Attached to an operator's feet, forearms and waist, the Hardiman, developed by General Electric's Research and Development Center, mimics and amplifies his movements, enabling him to lift a 1,500-pound load with little effort. Practical uses foreseen include warehouse and factory operations, bomb loading and underwater salvage.

Kerhonkson Will

passed by Congress just last year.

Barthel, who is also Supervisor of the Town of Wawarsing, said, "This is wonderful news. I've never heard of such fast action before."

The 40-year-old system in the Kerhonkson district north of Ellenville has recently proved inadequate to serve the 159 homes, farms, businesses and schools that look to it for water service. The community has a dependable source of well and spring water.

Congressman Resnick said the project "to be financed through the Farmers Home Administration calls for rebuilding deteriorated or inadequate water lines so that an ample supply of clean water for domestic use will be supplied throughout the community."

40-Year Repayment

The $66,540 loan will cover that portion of cost that can be repaid from water service charges without excessively high rates to users. Grant funds will make up the difference needed to carry out adequate improvements. The loan will employ funds of a private lender, with repayment insured by the Farmers Home Administration, and will be repaid in 40 years at 4 per cent interest.

Two Children Die In Kansas Cave-in

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — A cave-in killed a young brother and sister as they were digging a tunnel under their house Thursday evening.

The victims were Robert Leon Hase, 11, and Jo Anna May Hase, 7, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hase.

The father, a construction worker, had started digging a basement under the house in his spare time. The children were tunneling into a wall of the excavation when the sandy soil collapsed on them.

The bodies were dug out by neighbors and county firemen after Mrs. Hase discovered the cave-in.

Timmerman Talk Stresses Respect For Kiwanis Club

Respect for the law which he defined as "a body of rules by which we attempt to live with each other," was the subject of an address delivered before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Major H. Edgar Timmerman, local attorney and director of the Civilian Defense Corps of Ulster County.

"Justice and the law are not necessarily synonymous," said the speaker who pointed out that "the law is not a system of philosophy nor a code of ethics, nor a code of morals, nor does it pertain to a religious cult."

Notes Negative Approach

Timmerman traced the law back to the Ten Commandments of Moses, and opinions that most early codes took the "negative approach." He said that "to do exactly as one pleased would be anarchy," and that "everything you do is restricted."

The Middle Ages brought changes in the laws due to the Guilds which emphasized trades and the codes of the merchants. This was a departure from the original which were "church laws." Timmerman also mentioned the old ideas which, among other things, took the length of a king's foot as the basis of measurements.

The basis for your present day laws, said the speaker, came from England and its common law, although England "has no written Constitution such as we have."

The local attorney further explored the idea of our Constitution saying that "the United States was fortunate in the type of citizens of the American Revolution who were real scholars and students." He emphasized that "we had the talent to produce laws" as represented by the Constitution "which is not a dead set of rules but has changed as we changed."

Civil law is far more extensive and is utilized much more than criminal law, said the speaker, but opinionated that one hears less about civil law because it is not as exciting.

"Let the great decision stand, is going down the drain," said Timmerman, who explained the need for checking many cases in order to learn the law and thus is a reason why the process of law is often so slow.

The idea that "all laws are just, fair, and represent the finest thought is not necessarily so," said the attorney as he pointed to a span of 176 years taken to revise the divorce law in the State of New York.

Respect Most Important

He also touched upon the idea that at times it seemed the defense of a criminal "goes too far, but abuse by law is a factor in this," Timmerman further revealed that this defense "seems to hogtie enforcement officers, but respect for the law is most important."

"Respect for the law begins in the family," said the attorney.

who explained the basis for this as "father being the image who gave out the rules in the family and his word was law." Timmerman also stated that this respect for the law should be represented in the schools, churches, social agencies, and service groups. He mentioned the "social revolution of the time showing a disrespect for the law by the younger generation who were flaunting the law." He suggested the use of orderly processes to seek changes in the law where it was deemed advisable.

"Respect the law because it respects you—it is a refuge for you," said Timmerman, who said that personal vengeance and duels were old-fashioned means of settling disputes, "but the courts of law are the modern way which can take care of every wrong there is."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I just received a very interesting new map of greater Kingston, Ulster County, from the Kingston Savings Bank, of 273 Wall Street. This is a very easy reading map, giving blocks of Kingston, with street names which can be read easily. There are street names for Saugerties, Rosendale and Woodstock also shown, and many small towns. This large map was prepared by Norman H. Luedtke. With all the recent changes in Thruway and state highways, and new communities, this road map, and new street plan of Kingston and the communities near it, makes it important to everyone. Mr. Luedtke also has an index in numbers and alphabet, so the place can be found immediately. It also shows the school boundaries, and many recent street additions, and other information "not" available in this form elsewhere. This map was compiled for the Kingston Savings Bank and they acknowledge the cooperation received from such sources as the Ulster County Department of Highways, Kingston City Department of Engineering, Kingston City Schools (Consolidated), Brinnier and Larios, the Industrial Development Committee of the Board of Supervisors, and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. This is the sort of a map which folks will keep, and many years later will bring out and compare the changes that time will make in the years to come. The Kingston Savings Bank was organized two years after the villages of Rondout and Kingston incorporated, to become the new city of Kingston, in 1872. The Kingston Savings Bank opened its doors June 29, 1874 in the Romeyn building at 293 Wall Street, and near its present location at the "The Sign of the Clock" at 273 Wall Street. Some 92 years ago, when the Kingston Savings Bank opened its doors, people very carefully with their money, law abiding and hard working, and no doubt content. Those who worked ate, so from youths up, there were many jobs in the bluestone industry, in bricks, Rosendale cement, tanning, and in winter the annual ice harvest. It was said, in six weeks, a boy who went to work on the ice, came back a man, from the hard labor on the open ice fields and the good food. In 1874 the D and H Canal was at its peak, transporting millions of tons of coal from Pennsylvania mines to Rondout and other Hudson River places. Families lived on the barges, and the small boys led the mules or horses down the path. They went to school in the winter perhaps, and all seemed to learn to read the Bible and know their arithmetic, and could quote from the Bible and Benjamin Franklin. The little money they earned they put away in banks for a rainy day. The industries grew, and the banks grew, that Kingston Savings Bank went into larger quarters in the Argus building in 1885, from the Romeyn building. The Argus building was where the present Wall Street driveway is to the parking lot surrounding the Ulster County courthouse.

Came better times, and families saved in banks and in 1900, Kingston Savings Bank built their new building at 273 Wall Street, at its present location, and was remodeled and enlarged several times.

The banks give no end of service today, with all sorts of loans for most everything. People have changed somewhat. In olden times, one saved first and bought afterwards, now it is the other way around. One buys, and pays on time, the while enjoying the item. Old-timers would not think of it. A mortgage on a house was as far as they would go on a time payment basis. They would go without rather than owe.

Conference Set May 14

Area Educators Study New Roles of Africa

More than 60 area school leaders will be studying this week for a 10-hour meeting Saturday, May 14 to examine the new roles of Africa and its meaning for elementary and high school education in the Mid-Hudson region.

State University College, New Paltz, the New York State Education Department, and the Mid-Hudson School Study Council are co-sponsoring the conference to be held at the College's Conference Center in the Catskills near the Ashokan Reservoir.

"Focus on Africa" is one in a continuing series conducted by the Study Council under the title "American Education in a Revolutionary World: Challenge to Our Schools." Two previous meetings this school year were devoted to Red China, and a 1964-65 series was concerned with India.

Five Addresses, Panel

Development of Africa's "positive neutralism" and its influence will be the subject of five addresses prior to the general panel discussion on contemporary Africa and its implications for the schools.

Participants are receiving study guides, "An Atlas of African Affairs," by Basil Davidson, for background reading prior to the conference. The two-volume sets were provided by the State Education Department.

Chairman for the afternoon session will be Beacon Superintendent of Schools Donald J. Sipe. The evening session will be headed by Edward T. Green, supervising principal of Rondout Valley Central School.

Conference objectives will be outlined by Dr. William J. Hagerty, president of the New Paltz college.

Main speakers and their topics are: The Significance to World

Politics of Africa's "Positive Neutralism," by L. Gray Cowan, director of African Studies, Columbia University; The Relevance of Recent History to African "Positive Neutralism," by Richard Greenfield, Visiting Professor, New Paltz; Traditions and Background Which Led to the Concept of "Positive Neutralism," Elliott Skinner, Professor of Anthropology, Columbia University; The Socio-Economic Aspects of "Positive Neutralism," George O. Roberts, Professor of African Studies and Sociology, New Paltz; and Effects of the Concept of "Positive Neutralism" on African Education, by Peter J. Wright, Division of Area Studies and Geography, Joe Harris, Professor of African History, Austin Shelton, Professor Non-Western Literature, all of New Paltz.

"Focus on Contemporary Africa-Implications for Our Schools" will be discussed by a panel consisting of Wright, Shelton, Harris, Roberts, Greenfield, and Skinner.

They will be joined by Nicholas Poggi-Asare, instructor in Political Science, New Paltz,

LEAVES POLICE FORCE—Ralph Countryman, of 64 Boulevard, (center) who last month announced that he would leave the police department, shakes hands with Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw, as Sgt. William Hanley stands by for his turn. Countryman has accepted employment with the State Highway Department. He was in his 19th year on the police force where he had served as garage attendant and special officer. Members of the force will honor him at a stag dinner next Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Tomshaw and Hanley with Officer Harry Short are in charge of reservations.

Dies Doing Twist, Wife Will Collect

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The death of a salesman after he danced the twist at a company party entitles his widow to a Workmen's Compensation award, an appellate court holds.

William H. Chorley, 41, a leading automobile-salesman in January 1964 for Koerner Ford Inc. in Syracuse, was cited at a company party in May of that year.

Chorley became ill while dancing the twist and died of a heart attack a few hours later.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, unanimously upheld Wednesday a finding by the State Workmen's Compensation Board that "dancing the twist involves strenuous exertion" and that it caused Chorley to suffer a "coronary occlusion resulting in death...in the course of employment."

The court said the appellant did not dispute the board's conclusion "that decedent's attendance at a party sponsored by the employer in culmination of a competitive sales campaign was in the course of his employment."

Mrs. Chorley, mother of four, lived at 903 Beverly Drive, Syracuse.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — To tax or not to tax is the question now openly splitting the ranks of the official chartists of the nation's monetary, fiscal and economic policies.

The ultimate policy maker, President Johnson, is holding to a wait-and-see course. He wants to know for sure that inflationary dangers are growing so fast that only an increase in personal and corporate income taxes can cool down the booming economy.

Split on Need

But his closest advisers, both present and in the recent past, are splitting openly on whether a tax increase is needed — and when.

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, which shapes monetary policies, says "the only logical way" to deal with inflation is a "simple, clean-cut, across-the-board increase in taxes."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says the question can be held up for a while to see if monetary and fiscal restraints already prescribed will curb the inflationary trend. Ackley also firmly supports the President's policy of using persuasion on business and labor leaders to get them to hold down on price and wage increases.

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, warns that a tax increase now might be effective only late in the year when the economic pace could be weakening of itself. Such a tax boost could turn the economy into a downward spin next year and do harm rather than good. Instead, Fowler urges bankers to help curb inflation by weeding out "the speculative loans."

Asks Tax Hike

But Walter Heller, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, before Ackley took over, says this is the time to increase taxes. He contends that inflation must be halted now before it can send the economy into a boom that could lead only to a bust.

Heller was the architect of the U.S. fiscal policy, which has now come to be known as the New Economics. He advised spending measures that would increase employment even though the federal budget would continue to operate in the red. One of his proposals was the cut in personal and corporate income taxes that helped send the economy on the upsurge that is now bothering the monetary and fiscal managers.

President Johnson has called a panel of top business and labor officials to come up with plans for maintaining prosperity while achieving economic stability. His revived Labor-Management Advisory Committee is being asked to give its views on tax and monetary policies.

Spreading to Congress

The battle also is spreading to Congress. House members who want to raise appropriations for educational and welfare projects are being warned that this might trigger a tax increase demand. But many of them doubt this, saying that the real threat of higher taxes lies in the chance of a sharp increase in spending for the Viet Nam War.

Would Allow Work

WASHINGTON — Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has introduced a bill that will allow the sons and daughters of federal employees to compete in Civil Service examinations for summer and part-time work.

This legislation will write into law a Civil Service regulation allowing the dependents of federal employees to obtain federal employment where competitive examinations are used. The dependents of federal employees are presently barred from such employment.

"The old regulation," Resnick said, "barred dependents of federal employees from federal employment in order to discourage nepotism. However, now that we have the competitive Civil Service examination for summer and part-time help, the regulation discriminates against the children of federal employees by denying them the right to compete. Such discrimination is manifestly unfair."

It's a never-ending source of news.

The Coverdale Bible shown here is the first edition ever printed in English. It was produced by Miles Coverdale in 1535.

Although religion is the oldest continuing story in the history of mankind, it's still one of the biggest. Especially today. Sweeping changes are taking place in every region of the religious world, and they affect almost every member of our community.

To keep track of all these developments is a big job for an expert reporter, and fortunately, we have just the man for the job: George Cornell, religion writer for The Associated Press and author of the weekly column, "Religion Today."

In his 15 years of covering religion, Cornell has won the reputation of being among the most knowledgeable writers on the scene. He's also won almost every important award, including a James O. Supple Memorial Award given to the outstanding religion writer of the year by all the other writers in the field.

As a member of The Associated Press, we count on George Cornell to get us the whole story. As a reader of this newspaper, you can count on us to get it to you — fully, factually, and above all, fairly.

Three Are Killed In Individual Upstate Crashes

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Three men were killed in St. Lawrence County late Thursday night in two traffic accidents, each involving a tractor-trailer truck, about four minutes and 30 miles apart.

State Police said Lawrence Snyder, 37, of St. Regis Falls, and Gerald Shatraw, 39, of Nicholville, were killed when their stake-rack truck and a tractor-trailer collided at an intersection of Route 11 and a county road about 20 miles southeast of here.

The driver of the larger truck was not injured, troopers said. That accident occurred at 11:46 p.m.

Four minutes later, 19-year-old Dahl E. Todd of Canton, identified as a soldier home on leave before going to South Vietnam, was killed when his motorcycle and a tractor-trailer collided 2 miles south of Canton, southwest of here.

Sheriff's deputies said Todd's motorcycle skidded 95 feet, hit the rear of the trailer and caught fire. Todd was thrown from his vehicle and suffered head injuries, deputies said.

The truck driver, who was not injured, told deputies he did not realize the accident had occurred until he saw the burning wreckage of the motorcycle in his rear-view mirror.

Walden Infant Killed

WALDEN, N.Y. (AP) — Carl Ann Wendell, 3, died Thursday when she was struck by a car as she played on the street in front of her home.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wendell. They live at 52 Sunset Drive. Police said the driver was not held.

Forecast Cool Weather Period Into Wednesday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday:

Moderately cool weather continuing, with daytime temperatures averaging in the 50s and low 60s and nighttime lows in the 30s to middle 40s. Quite cool at the beginning, with some moderation Sunday and Monday and then cooler again.

Precipitation is expected to total one quarter to one half inch. Rain or showers are likely during the middle of the period.

Marlboro Class Tours New York

The Business Club of Marlboro High School went to New York on their annual spring trip recently. They were accompanied by Mrs. T. L. Loth, club advisor, and Mrs. Henry Morrison.

The club members visited the United Nations. They saw a movie, toured the buildings, and had luncheon. From there, the group went to the New York Telephone Company where they watched operators handling calls, giving information, and recording weather data.

At the Allied Chemical Tower, the members saw a fashion show and viewed the many interesting scientific displays.

Members of the club attending were Chris Andonucci, Barbara Boyd, Laura Lee Bull, Charlotte Colombo, Cynthia Coupert, Rose D'Agostino, Georgia Datoush, Wendy DeFazio, Shirley Edsall, Amelia Fiore, Jo Ann Gibson, Jo Ann Giordano, Sue Handy, Patty Morrison, Diana Montarulo, Mary Lou Pascale, Ann Marie Polizzi, Sam Rizzo, Augusta Rosasco, Cecelia Salinovich, Linda Sgro, Barbara Widdows.

Alaska's capital of Juneau is about 2,900 miles from the State of Washington.

Hearing May 19 On Will Battle For $19 Million

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A surrogate-court hearing will resume May 19 in a legal battle to determine who will inherit a bank secretary's $19-million estate—two universities or three relatives.

Miss Florence M. Dailey, who died Feb. 9 at the age of 87, bequeathed approximately $8.5 million each to Notre Dame and Georgetown Universities, according to a will she signed March 18, 1933.

Claim Later Will

But two nephews and a niece suggest that a document, described by Surrogate Michael L. Rogers of Monroe County as mutilated, dated 1930 actually was a later will. That document makes no provisions for the schools.

Rogers, who began the hearing Wednesday, has said that if the 1933 will were validated $17 million would be shared by the universities and the remaining $2 million would be split among the three relatives, lawyers and executors.

If the mutilated document were probated, he says, the relatives—not the universities—might inherit what was left in the estate after payment of $13 or $14 million in federal and state taxes.

Rogers also has said it might be necessary for a jury to decide which document is valid.

Bought Stock

In the late 1890s, Miss Dailey began working as a secretary for a Rochester bank president. At his encouragement, she began buying shares of Eastman Kodak Co. stock. The stock comprises most of her estate.

The relatives contesting the 1933 will are John Boyle Dailey of Bellingham, Mass., Charles Norton Dailey of Statesboro, Ga., and Mary Feeney Dailey of Woonsocket, R.I.

Rocky Defends Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has gone to the defense of women.

"The greatest talent to be found in the United States is in our women and it is not being fully utilized," he said in a speech Thursday night.

"Only one country, I'm sorry to say, fully utilizes their women and that is Soviet Russia," he added.

Report Layoffs as GM Cuts Back Production of Vehicles

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Several hundred auto production workers have been laid off and hundreds more face furloughs because General Motors Corp. is cutting back production for the first time in five years.

GM, the world's largest automaker, said Thursday the cutbacks were to "get production schedules in line with current stocks in the field."

GM was the only one of the big auto firms to announce cutbacks.

At the same time, Ford scheduled 10 of its assembly plants on overtime operations Saturday. Chrysler and American Motors were on regular five-day weeks.

All the companies were expected to be mentioned today in Sen. Abraham Ribicoff's report on auto defects.

The Connecticut Democrat, head of a Senate subcommittee probing auto safety, recently asked the four major U.S. auto firms to list all manufacturing and design defects found in cars since 1960.

GM, Ford, Chrysler and AMC sent their lists to Washington Thursday.

Later in the day, the list was expanded to include four New York plants.

About 700 Chevrolet workers were idled yesterday at Tonawanda, N.Y., and told not to report for work today. The workers, all Corvair assembly-line workers, were told they would be idle the same days next week.

Partial Shutdown

GM's Harrison Radiator Division said there would be partial shutdown today in its Lockport and Buffalo, N.Y., plants. The number of workers affected was not disclosed.

The firm's Delco Products Division said 2,500 of the Rochester, N.Y., plant's 4,300 workers would be idled May 13.

Announcement of GM's cutbacks was listed as one of the reasons for a drop in the New York stock market Thursday. GM fell to $88, a low for the year.

Figures released by GM indicated the firm sold 404,407 new cars in April, a drop of 15,820 from totals for April 1965. Corvair sales accounted for most of this decline, dropping 11,861 to 7,903.

Industry sources generally were reluctant, however, to blame the auto safety hearings for sales decline. They noted that sales in the 1965 month were unusually high because of consumer demand built up during the auto strikes of late 1964.
